

Vice President Agnew resigns post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned Wednesday, his historic decision announced by a weeping staff secretary.

Agnew then pleaded no contest in federal court in Baltimore to a single count of federal income tax evasion.

The vice president, his face drawn, entered the plea before U.S. District Court Judge Walter E. Hoffman.

Hoffman told the vice president he considered the no contest plea the equivalent of an admission of guilty.

Hoffman sentenced Agnew to the maximum $10,000 fine and placed him on probation without supervision for three years.

Agnew left the courthouse at about 2:40 p.m., stepping into a limousine for an unknown destination. Agnew told newsmen that the Justice Department has not been fully prosecuting witnesses in his case.

Witnesses against him had received either full or partial immunity, Agnew said.

Waving to bystanders, he drove off.

He had attended a hearing in which he and Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson were seated in a courtroom for about 30 minutes.

Agnew's resignation means President

Nixon will submit to Congress a nominee to succeed the vice president. The Nixon nominee would take over the vice presidency upon approval by both branches of Congress.

In a statement to the court, Agnew said his decision to resign "rests on my firm belief that the public interest requires swift disposition" of his case.

Agnew entered his plea of no contest to a criminal information filed by U.S. Atty. George Beall.

Agnew said that had not an agreement been reached with the government, and had he been indicted, the case would have dragged on for two or three years and "intense media interest in the case would distract public attention from other matters of national importance."

Richardson announced in the Baltimore courtroom that the Justice Department had recommended Agnew not be imprisoned, on grounds that his resignation and conviction on the tax charge served as sufficient punishment.

The criminal information said Agnew filed a false joint income tax return for 1967 and said he had income of $26,099 and that he owed taxes of $6,416 while in fact his income was $55,599 carrying taxes of $19,967.

Richardson told the court the investigation of kickbacks in Maryland politics during the time Agnew was governor and Baltimore County executive produced evidence which "establishes a pattern of substantial cash payments to the defendant (Agnew) during the period when he served as governor of Maryland in return for engineering contracts with the state of Maryland."

Payments by a leading unidentified figure in one large engineering firm began in the early 1960s and continued into 1971, Richardson said.

Agnew also had been under investigation in connection with bribery and extortion accusations.

"I categorically deny assertions of illegal practices on my part by government witnesses," Agnew declared.

Mrs. Lisa Brown, the Agnew secretary, told The Associated Press of the resignation. She said she was speaking on behalf of J. Marsh Thomson, press secretary to Agnew.

Secretaries at Agnew's office in the Executive Office Building said there would be no further comment immediately.

Mrs. Brown said only:

"The Agnew staff has just returned from a meeting in which we were informed that the vice president has resigned as of 2 o'clock this afternoon."

Middle East fighting escalation is possible

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed its warplanes blasted Damascus airport and other strategic targets in the Syrian and Egyptian heartlands today. Iraq announced its air and ground forces have joined the war and Jordan called up its reserves in what could herald another escalation of the five-day struggle.

In Washington, the U.S. Defense Department said today that the Soviet Union has begun using its biggest and best transport planes to deliver "very large tonnages" of military supplies to airports in Egypt and Syria.

Syria reported its air defenses drove the Israeli airport raiders away from Damascus before they could get close enough to damage the four-year-old airport.

But as reports of ground fighting slackened off, Damascus charged other Israeli jets were hitting civilian targets at the central industrial city of Homs and Syria's major ports on the Mediterranean. The Israeli command described the targets as "strategic and military."

Egypt and Syria said Tuesday that they had beaten back repeated Israeli attacks and were poised for new advances. An Israeli spokesman admitted Tuesday night that Israel's counteroffensive had stalled in both the Sinai Desert and the Golan Heights.

Cities in Israel, Egypt and Syria were blacked out after an Israeli raid Tuesday on Damascus and another Syrian city, but no air attacks on any cities Tuesday night were reported. Tel Aviv had a four-minute air alert at 4:30 a.m., but apparently it was a false alarm.

Cairo newspapers said today that Israeli jets penetrated the city's air defense area twice on Tuesday. They said Egyptian planes drove them back before they could hit any targets.

Mayor criticizes report city may have lost sales tax revenue

State Director of Revenue James Spradling's announcement Tuesday that Sedalia has probably lost an estimated $95,000 in city sales tax revenue during the past fiscal year was criticized Wednesday by Mayor Jerry Jones, who termed Spradling's statements "tremendously misleading."

Spradling released the figures for Sedalia, along with those for 16 other Missouri cities, in a statement in which he estimated that the state, as a whole, has lost some $9 million in city sales tax collections over the last six years. Spradling indicated he based his figures on a study made recently by William R. Giovanni, assistant director of the Center for Community and Metropolitan Studies at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

"I think it's important we look at the figures in proper perspective," Jones said. "This figure was probably obtained by applying the 12.4 per cent figure (which Spradling said reflected the percentage of sales tax revenue the study estimated was being lost each year) and computed that into how much total sales tax revenue we collected last year."

"I disagree with his allegations," Jones continued. "I've been around Sedalia most of my life and I know a large percentage of the merchants. They are fine, reputable people."

Giovanni, contacted Wednesday, confirmed Jones' arithmetic by explaining that the estimated local figure was obtained by dividing the total amount of sales tax collected by the city during the 1972 fiscal year ($767,053) by the 12.4 figure the resulting amount, he said, was $95,114.

Giovanni stressed "that we certainly are not implicating local units of government; rather, we're implicating the inefficiency at the patronage-ridden state level. I don't blame some of the local politicians for getting upset, but I hope they can realize that we're pointing the finger at the state, and not at them."

Giovanni explained that his investigation of the state sales tax collection system was requested early this year by officials of Gov. Christopher S. Bond's administration. These men, he said, "sought an accurate picture of the relative inefficiency of the patronage-operated department."

In conducting the study, Giovanni said, he and his associates examined the city sales tax collection procedures of the states of Maine, North Carolina, Colorado, Mississippi, Michigan, Kansas and Wyoming in addition to Missouri. All these states, except Wyoming and Missouri, operate under the merit system, Giovanni indicated.

"Our research revealed that, in the merit system operations, states only experienced a 2 to 3 per cent slippage of taxes not paid," Giovanni said. "In Missouri, we concluded that his figure was approximately 12.4 per cent."

Giovanni added that his study group made "several (Please see REVENUE, Page 4A)

Strip mine bill goes to House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough strip mine regulation bill has passed the Senate and now goes to the House, where environmentalists say a weaker version is being considered in committee.

The Senate approved the bill 82 to 8 Tuesday after rejecting an industry-backed move to soften its reclamation requirements. The industry amendment, offered by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., was defeated 62 to 29.

The bill, which applies only to coal mines, requires mine operators to restore the land to its approximate original contour.

Allen's amendment would have permitted other configurations "compatible with the surrounding terrain" as long as they were found to control erosion effectively.

Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., chief sponsor of the bill, said Allen's amendment would not have required the elimination of the highwall, the vertical cut made by strip miners.

Allen said the requirements in the bill "very conceivably would make surface mining all but impossible in many parts of the nation."

He read from a letter in which he said Tennessee Valley Authority officials told him the bill could double the cost of coal production.

Meanwhile, the environment and mines and mining subcommittees of the House adopted a provision in the House bill that opponents said also would permit strip miners to leave highwalls behind.

Bicycle safety work

Bob Leutgen, 612 East 12th, an employee of the State Highway Department, is in the process of making life a lot easier for local bicyclists by cutting niches in the iron bars of this drainage grate. After the niches are made, to form three even grooves running opposite to the grate slats, protective three-eighths-inch iron rods will be welded in the grooves to protect bicycles from catching their wheels in the grate openings. A highway department spokesman said 372 grates along the right of way of Highways 50 and 65 within the city will be treated in such a manner. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

'Sunshine Bill' affects discussed

By JOE KELL
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Sedalia School Board met Tuesday night to discuss what affects the newly enacted "Sunshine Bill" might have on school board meetings.

The board decided that since it has essentially been meeting the requirements of the law already, the only action necessary was to adopt the pertinent provisions of the bill as board policy.

The board also voted to give the news media, and the public, at least 20 hours notice before holding any special meetings. The new state law requires that advance notice be given for special meetings, but does not specify a time limit.

After the formal meeting ended, Dr. Henningsen announced that he had received a letter from attorneys of the Don "L" Bron Construction Co. rejecting a proposal made by the school board to place money owed to Bron in an escrow fund pending waiver of all subcontractor's liens by the school board. Bron was the contractor for the junior high school building.

Henningsen said the school board would hold a special meeting next week to discuss this latest development in the continuing dispute between the school board and Bron.

In September the board voted to place $139,434 still owed on the junior high school construction project in an escrow account to be released to Bron and the Western Casualty and Security Co., if Western Casualty delivers waivers of liens from all subcontractors on the project within 60 days.

Western Casualty is the construction firm's bonding company and, under the school board plan, failure to deliver the waivers would result in replacing the money in the school district's account. To obtain the necessary waivers, the bonding company would either have to pay the subcontractors the full amount due them, or a lesser amount agreed on by both the subcontractor and the bonding firm.

The board also adopted the first in a series of several revisions of its operating policy. The entire policy will eventually be updated and clarified.

The coding method adopted for the policy will allow addition deletion or amendment to the policy with a minimum of confusion.

Nixon campaign spy relates his activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Nixon campaign spy testified today that he worked his way through the campaigns of three 1972 Democratic presidential contenders and right into Sen. George McGovern's penthouse suite at the party's Miami convention.

Michael W. McMinoway, 26, a private detective from Louisville, Ky., told the Senate Watergate committee that he rose from volunteer ranks to McGovern's convention security staff.

He was present with McGovern when the candidate watched on television as his delegates regained crucial, contested votes from the California delegation, McMinoway said.

McMinoway, code-named Sedan Chair II by officials at President Nixon's reelection committee and the White House, said on one occasion he drove a delegate and two prostitutes from McGovern's Doral Hotel headquarters to the Playboy Plaza Hotel not far away.

He testified he was acting on orders of an upper-echelon McGovern staff member whose name he could not recall. He did not identify the delegate.

McMinoway said he first saw the delegate when the man appeared on the Doral Hotel's 17th floor, where McGovern and his top aides stayed. He said that the man asked to see campaign manager Gary Hart, that Hart asked to have the man ushered in and that Hart later said, "Send him on back."

When the delegate emerged from Hart's quarters later, a McGovern staffer told McMinoway to bring a staff car around to the front of the hotel and wait for the delegate, McMinoway said.

He said when he pulled up with the car, he found the delegate with two women.

McMinoway testified that he was certain the two women were of "low moral standards."

Republican committee counsel Fred Thompson questioned McMinoway in some detail about the incident.

"Did anything happen to make you believe they were not 'ladies,' but 'women?'"

"Yes sir," McMinoway said.

"I'm not going to go into that," said Thompson, raising snickers from the standing-room-only audience in the hearing room.

Senate takes up war powers bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today takes up a revised bill limiting the power of the president to wage undeclared war.

The bill would require withdrawal within 60 days of U.S. armed forces sent, without the approval of Congress, into hostilities or situations risking imminent hostilities.

Congress could require disengagement sooner by adopting a concurrent resolution, not subject to presidential veto. President Nixon has said he would veto such a bill as an infringement upon the constitutional power of the president as commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said it would be tough to override a veto in either the House, which votes first, or in the Senate.

The Senate voted 71 to 18 in July for a 30-day limit on use of the military forces in combat without approval of Congress. The House voted 244 to 170 for a 120-day limit.

Senate passage of the compromise bill, worked out in a Senate-House conference committee, was not in doubt. A three-hour time limit was set for Senate debate.

The House is expected to adopt the compromise language later this week.

The bill recognizes the authority of the president to order troops into combat in an emergency resulting from attack on the U.S. or its armed forces.

Even in such emergencies, however, the duration of engagement would be limited to 60 days unless Congress declared war, extended the period or was physically unable to meet because of armed attack on the United States.

The 60-day period could be extended by the president for no more than 30 days upon his written certification that "unavoidable military necessity" required the time for the safe withdrawal of troops from the war zone.

Decorating need not be expensive

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer
Some good decorating schemes are born of necessity, a thought for the young girl on a budget who'd like to zizz up her room a bit at home or at school.

For example, faced with having to decorate around a mattress and box spring covered in a bandanna-patterned fabric, a new idea for his company, designer David Poisal came up with a handsome but simple room scheme. He used the pattern throughout in the small space, but it was well coordinated.

One might slipcover any mattress and box spring in a colorful fabric and take the idea from there.

He fastened all the fabric to the plywood with glue which he prefers to use because "it can provide a smoother finish." Use an adhesive that permits the fabric to be moved about and even removed and reapplied if the pattern does not line up properly, he advised.

The black vinyl plinth (recessed base) used under the box spring is also available at the mattress centers, but those who want to make their own plinth will find it simple to do, observed Poisal, assistant to the manager of the interior design department at Simmons.

"All you really need is four pieces of wood nailed together and covered with vinyl. The standard one is about four inches. One could use 2-by-4s available at lumber stores to make the base," he advised. It could be painted if one prefers.

Polly's pointers

Making light work of candle drippings

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Mrs. J. R. T. who cannot remove candle wax from her nylon carpet. The red rug around the altar of our small church had hundreds of candle drippings which nothing would remove. A visiting missionary told me what to do and it worked beautifully. Flatten out a large heavy brown grocery bag, put it over the wax spots and then run a warm iron over the bag, which will absorb the wax. If necessary use another clean bag and repeat. Do be careful not to lay the hot iron the rug. — ANNE

DEAR GIRLS — Mrs. R. P. suggested the same method but she uses several layers of paper toweling and George, a former dry cleaner, recommends blotters used the same way. Take your pick. — POLLY

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I have 20 tubes of every color of paint that is used to paint fabrics and pictures. These tubes were stored in an airtight container for six months and now I find the contents of the tubes will not feed out of the nylon tips, even though the tubes still feel soft. I hate to discard 20 of these. I do hope someone can tell me how to start the paint flowing again. — MRS. G. B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the small amount of storage space in so many modern homes that offer more closet space. Good articles have to be thrown away because of this lack. How often we wish for something that had been discarded just because of little or no storage space. Why not eliminate a few push-button gadgets and add more storage space for thrifty far-sighted homemakers? — MAC

Energy source check important

By PETER WEAVER
Q — Your column on what fuel source is best was of particular interest to us. We feel that the use of gas in home appliances for space heating, water heating and cooking is a more efficient use of this fuel than the use of gas to generate electricity which is later used in electric appliances at home. Our thinking is backed up by findings in a study done by the Rand Corp. entitled "California's Electricity Quandary." — P.K., Southern California Gas Co.

A — The point I tried to make in my column on energy sources was the fact that consumers can no longer buy appliances or homes without first checking out the various sources of energy supply. A major item on a buyer's checklist should be the energy source and its availability.

Reports such as the one done by Rand and surveys done by state and local utility commissions can be helpful in checking out energy resources. Whether an appliance uses gas, electricity or fuel oil, you should try to find out the availability before you commit yourself. Depending on where you live, there are already shortages in every one of these fuels.

Q — I've just had surgery on my leg and need home nursing care. Where can I get more information on this? — F.L.H., Victorville, Calif.

A — Check the phone book Yellow Pages under "Social Service Organizations." You'll find such names as visiting nurse and home health aide associations as well as several run by religious organizations.

If you are covered by Medicare are eligible for Medicaid, you might get reimbursed for some of your home nursing care.

You might want to get a good book dealing with this subject, "Aging and Mental Health," written by Dr. Robert Butler (published by C. V. Mosby). There's an excellent chapter on "How to Keep People at Home" versus putting them in hospitals or nursing homes.

Q — I bought a bedspread for my daughter from a chain store. After the first washing, much of the color faded. I've tried to get a new spread or my money back but the store manager is always "out" or "busy." What next? — Mrs. G.W., Sedalia, Mo.

A — I've found that writing a factual complaint to the president of the chain often does the trick. It might be embarrassing or difficult for you to get the president's name or address from the store, but most company officers and addresses are listed in business directories. One directory, published by Standard and Poor, can be found in most libraries.

It's a good idea to have your own business directory at home to use for complaints. A new directory called "Information for Consumers" contains the names of most major consumer product and service suppliers. You can get a copy by sending 50 cents to: Everybody's Money, P.O. Box 431; Madison, Wis.

A — I certainly hope I did not convince readers that ALL trade and vocational schools are bad. I hope I did convince readers to be extra careful in selecting a school. The down-to-earth, job-oriented, "real-life" experience trade schools offer can be invaluable to many students whose formal high school or college education is often far removed from the working world.

Republicans getting fee offices

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Democrats aren't applying for state revenue fee offices so Republicans are getting them. Revenue Director James R. Spradling said Tuesday.

The Revenue Department said about 80 of the 95 new managers are Republicans. The number of Democrats was not available. Some have gone to non-profit organizations.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond, who appointed Spradling in January, campaigned last year against Democratic abuses of the patronage system, especially in the fee offices, which handle state licensing and number about 150.

Spradling said when legislation to facilitate assigning fee offices to local governments died last session, it was decided to replace most of the office managers. "They were not dished out to people who supported Bond," Spradling said. "Not many Democrats even bothered to apply."

Bond, senators to discuss reorganization

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A meeting scheduled today between Gov. Christopher S. Bond and four state senators, to discuss reorganization of state government, was to be closed.

Bond said he thought the closed session would produce "more substance than show," but Sen. William J. Cason, president pro tem of the Senate, who was to attend, said he was "shocked" that Bond didn't want reporters to hear the discussion.

Bond vetoed a reorganization bill passed by the legislature in June and Cason has urged him to call a special session to deal with reorganization.

Cason, D-Clinton, said he would ask Bond to open the meeting, but said "I'm in no position to demand it."

He said the senators have not been able to get Bond's specific objections to their legislation and having an open meeting would benefit the public.

Cason was author of the open meetings bill that Bond signed into law.

Another call for a special session on reorganization was made today by Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Hannibal, who sponsored a reorganization bill in the last session.

He wrote to Bond saying reorganization is the most important issue facing the state and every means should be used to enact the legislation.

In the area of legislation, Volkmer said, "no one individual gets everything exactly the way he wants it."

Youth sentenced to four life terms

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — A judge today sentenced 16-year-old Benedict Kemper to four life terms in prison for the slaying of two of his schoolmates and their parents at Conception in northwest Missouri.

Judge John Yeaman refused to make the terms run concurrently and said it was necessary to impose the maximum penalty in order to protect society.

Sheriff Tom Thomas said he would take young Kemper to the state prison at Jefferson City as soon as possible because he was involved in an escape attempt two weeks ago.

A jury convicted Kemper of shooting four members of the Marion Merrigan family at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Merrigan and their teen-age son and daughter were shot with a rifle.

The case was moved from Maryville, Mo., to Platte City for trial.

Two firemen hired for Pettis County

The Pettis County Court Wednesday hired two additional firemen for the county fire department, raising the department's manpower to six.

Hired were William A. Coughlin, 900 East 13th, and Terry Joe Roberts, 820 West Fourth. The starting pay for county firemen is $198.47 every two weeks.

Western District Judge John Bluhm said Coughlin has had no previous firefighting experience, while Roberts has had experience in fighting grass fires.

The hiring of the two men comes just about a month after the court fired firefighter Danny Taylor, LaMonte. At the time, the court said Taylor had been released because a man with more experience had been hired to replace him. No other reason for dismissal has been given by the court since his firing.

Bluhm declined comment Wednesday on why the court did not rehire Taylor, since he had more firefighting experience than Coughlin. Taylor was with the department for about two months prior to his dismissal. Bluhm indicated, though, that the court had not considered hiring Taylor back.

Taylor's dismissal triggered a month-long dispute between the court and members of the International Association

Circuit Court drug charges are dismissed

Drug charges against Nicholas Niforos, a former airman at Whiteman AFB and LaMonte resident, were dismissed in Pettis County Circuit Court Tuesday by Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming.

Fleming had said on Sept. 27 that he would not prosecute the case after Circuit Court Judge Frank Meyer had ruled that evidence obtained during Niforos' arrest last October could not be used in court.

Niforos was charged with selling LSD cubes to two LaMonte teenagers Aug. 31, 1972, in LaMonte. He was one of five persons arrested last October and charged with the sale of controlled substances.

In another case, Fleming dismissed assault charges against Henry M. Herndon, 45, 406 West Clay, Herndon was charged with firing a .22 caliber pistol at his stepdaughter, Tammy Howell, 14, 406 West Clay, and James Snorgrass, 304 West Johnson, on Sept. 2.

Fleming said he dismissed the charges after Miss Howell and Herndon's wife, Pearl Herndon, also a complaining witness, indicated they wished to dismiss charges.

In other court action Tuesday, Jerrold Clyde Lee, Lee's Summit, pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree burglary. Judge Meyer sentenced Lee to two years in the state penitentiary and then placed him on two years probation.

Lee, who was charged in connection with the March 10 break in of the Hughesville High School, had originally pleaded innocent but changed his plea Tuesday.

Probation was granted after a hearing was held.

Records on sale of home to Agnew are subpoenaed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The records on the $190,000 sale of a suburban Maryland home to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew have been subpoenaed by the federal grand jury probing alleged kickbacks from Maryland contractors, says the agent who handled the real estate transaction.

Peter Burr, the realtor, said Tuesday night that the documents relating to Agnew's purchase were subpoenaed by the Baltimore grand jury on Sept. 25.

The Agnews moved into the 12-room colonial farmhouse in the fashionable Kenwood area of Montgomery County last June. The Agnews had lived in a Washington hotel for four years.

The Washington Post reported today that the Agnews bought the 33-year-old house with the help of a $160,000 mortgage obtained from the American National Building and Loan Association of Baltimore.

The newspaper said records relating to the Agnews' mortgage apparently have been subpoenaed from American National.

Howard I. Scaggs, president of the building and loan association, declined to either confirm or deny that the records had been subpoenaed, the newspaper said.

recommendations to the governor which, we feel if implemented, will drastically reduce this figure."

These recommendations include employing qualified persons in the sales tax collection area rather than politically-favored persons; auditing sales tax accounts better; and providing better enforcement tools, such as a law to allow liens or levies to be placed against delinquent businesses.

Another recommendation advised that the attorney general's office or the Revenue Department prosecute businesses for non-payment, rather than rely on local prosecutors.

Figures released Wednesday by City Clerk Ralph Dedrick revealed that a total of $2,103,612.20 in city sales tax revenue has been returned to the city. Broken down, this figure reflects $555,908.44 for calendar year 1971; $810,878.72 for 1972; and $736,824.04 thus far in 1973.

Ironically, a check for the largest monthly amount of sales tax revenue ever received by the city, $108,031.59, arrived in Dedrick's office Tuesday, the day Spradling made his announcement.

of Firefighters. Taylor was a member of Local 2228. The union has been arguing Taylor was fired because of his union affiliation.

Both Coughlin and Roberts signed an agreement with the court stipulating the two men were hired "on a temporary and trial basis" and could be fired any time by the court.

Bluhm said this is the first time that the court has asked county firemen to sign any agreement with the court.

The controversy over Taylor's status as a fireman remains a key point in the dispute. Taylor, who signed no agreement with the court, said he was hired on a permanent basis. Eastern District Judge E. L. Birdsong has said that Taylor was hired on a temporary basis.

Thefts reported to local police

Larry Billingsley, 502 East 12th, told police that a tape player, valued at $50, was taken from his car while it was parked at 2119 West Broadway between 9 and 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Billingsley said he saw several people driving around the car, which had been locked, earlier in the evening. He said that the tape player was ripped from the car dash.

Two lion statues, of undetermined value, were reported taken from the yard of Melvin Weathers, 3000 Daryl Drive, shortly before 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Russell Rhoads, 902 Sylvia, Weathers' neighbor, told police that he saw two persons, driving an early model Ford, stop in front of Weathers' home and remove the statues from the lawn.

Discussed

adopted Tuesday night covered the general functions of the school board and a job description for the superintendent of schools. Dr. Allan Henningsen, superintendent of schools, said after the meeting that he didn't think any major changes in policy were forthcoming, but merely an updated version of existing policies.

At the request of the Missouri State High School Activities Association, the board decided to join a class action suit with the MSHSAA and several other high schools to support the decision of the MSHSAA not to allow 19-year olds to participate in high school activities. No cost is involved.

The MSHSAA's right to make such eligibility decisions is being challenged by two students of St. Joseph's Lafayette High School who have reached the age of 19 and had to get a court injunction to be allowed to play on the Lafayette football team this season.

The two students in question contend the MSHSAA is unfairly denying them a chance to play because they missed a year of school because of illness when they were younger.

The MSHSAA, according to Earl Finley, Smith-Cotton principal, looks up the suit as a challenge to its right to set any eligibility requirements.

The board also discussed formulating a policy to follow in the event Smith-Cotton's supply of natural gas is cut off this winter. The Missouri Public Service Co. has informed the board that Smith-Cotton is fourth on the list of customers to be cut off this winter should a fuel shortage occur.

A final decision on such a policy was deferred until the entire board could be present. Only four of the six members of the board were present at Tuesday night's meeting. Mrs. William Dugan and George Thompson, board president, were absent.

P. A. Sillers, director of elementary education, reported to the board that he has given the local Civil Defense office a list of people to contact when the schools are needed for severe weather shelters.

Sillers said the Civil Defense office is currently looking for people who would be willing to be in charge of security at the schools designated as storm shelters.

Don Kabler, president of the Sedalia Diver's Club, spoke to the board in defense of the diver's club in connection with damage to pool at the junior high school. Kabler said he was sure the chips in the bottom of the pool were not caused by the diving club.

It had earlier been reported that the diving club had chipped the bottom of the pool during one of its training classes when air tanks scraped the pool's paint.

Glenn "Mack" Kell, a board member, assured Kabler that the board was not considering refusing to allow the diving club access to the pool.

Dr. Chester Kirkpatrick, also a member of the board, passed on a request he received to light the playground at Jefferson School. Kirkpatrick said Second Ward Councilman Raymond Bales had contacted him with a request by a resident who lived near the school, who said people are gathering on the school grounds late into the night.

The board voted to either rent a mercury vapor light for the school or ask the city to erect another street light in the area.

In other action, the board accepted bids on equipment and supplies. A total of $2,466.04 was allocated to purchase swimming equipment for the varsity swimming team.

Eight starting platforms, for swimmers races, were purchased from The Swim Shop, Nashville, Tenn., at a cost of $942.40. Another $503.72 went for the purchase of seven racing lanes for the junior high school pool.

The board also voted to purchase a duplicator from Sedalia Office Supply for $499.50. Another $343.48 was spent to purchase 124 girl's T-shirts for the junior high school.

Personnel conflict to board

(Democrat-Capital Service)

TIPTON — A tangled controversy involving some members of the school board and two teachers here may boil to a head tonight at the regularly scheduled school board meeting.

The dispute involves the high school football coach and vocational agriculture instructor who claim "harrassment" from a segment of the school board as well as from certain school personnel and a former superintendent of schools.

Related to the controversy is a rift between the present majority of school board members and other members of the school board who have allied themselves with former Tipton superintendent Orville Fox and the present school secretary, Barbara Huhman.

Mrs. Huhman had earlier this school year announced her resignation, reportedly because of personality conflicts with the two teachers in question, Ron Custer and Thurman Lowery. It was later learned that she has in fact, not resigned.

Custer charges Fox with "trying to fire" both himself and Lowery.

Mrs. Huhman and Fox had reportedly been responsible for an earlier petition, signed by some Tipton teachers, admonishing Custer and Lowery.

Fox was later forced into resignation as superintendent, it was reported. A school board spokesman said that Fox, who remains in the community, is now attempting to collect a portion of his yearly salary for a time period in which he was not under contract.

"He's still trying to get us fired," Custer said of Fox. "I can prove my point," Custer continued.

"I just hope we can get this thing straightened out," a school board spokesman said.

Orman was released on his own recognizance. His arraignment date was set for Oct. 16.

Cason files brief of Senate issue

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A brief filed in the Missouri Supreme Court by Sen. William J. Cason says there is only one question to be resolved in the argument over who shall preside in the Missouri Senate.

Lt. Gov. William C. Phelps filed suit against Cason, the president pro tem, saying the state constitution gives the lieutenant governor power to preside. Oral arguments are set for Oct. 19.

Cason's brief also cites the constitution. He says it gives the Senate power to make its own rules, which the Senate did—giving himself, the president pro tem, the authority to preside.

"The sole question is the constitutionality of Senate rule 11," said Cason's brief. That rule says the lieutenant governor shall preside only when allowed to do so by the president pro tem.

Cason said the lieutenant governor had been given the power to preside in the 1875 state constitution, but this was changed in the 1945 constitution, which limited the functions of the lieutenant governor in the Senate.

He said the intent of this was apparently to prevent the executive branch of government from controlling the Legislature.

On another point, Cason noted that Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, who is representing Phelps, had issued an opinion in January, 1969 upholding the right of the president pro tem to preside over the senate, but had reversed that opinion last June 18, three days after Phelps tried to take control of the Senate proceedings, but was prevented from doing so by Cason.

Cason asked the high court to compare Danforth's "correct opinion along with his attempt to convince himself and the court that he was wrong."

Gas dealer advisory board is considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is considering creating an advisory board of gasoline dealers to help ease its conflict with retail gasoline stations over Phase 4 price ceilings.

This was disclosed Tuesday by a council spokesman, who said a major purpose of the panel would be to provide retailers with a sounding board for their complaints.

Although the spokesman insisted a final decision on establishing the board has not been made, Richard Messer, president of the Greater Indianapolis Retail Dealers Association, said he has already been advised of the plan.

Council officials scheduled a meeting today with representatives of California gasoline retailers. It was described as one of a series of informal sessions with unhappy dealers.

Many dealers in California and elsewhere have closed their stations for periods of time to protest the fixed ceilings on the prices they can charge at their gasoline pumps.

The dealers are demanding the right to automatically pass along to the consumer higher wholesale costs of gasoline.

Current Phase 4 regulations prohibit dealers from automatically raising prices for any reason, providing instead that the council periodically review dealer costs and prices.

One price increase already has been granted, and Director John T. Dunlop has said the council is committed to granting a second increase because of recent hikes in the wholesale price of gasoline. But he didn't say when this second increase would be allowed.

Disagreement over ordinance continues

The proper zoning for drive-in bank facilities is the subject of a one-sided disagreement between George Berenyi and his fellow members of the city Planning and Zoning Commission.

At a meeting Sept. 27, the commission recommended, with Berenyi alone dissenting, a revision in the local zoning code to legalize the location of drive-in bank facilities in areas zoned C-1 (local business). One such facility, Sedalia Bank & Trust's East Broadway drive-in, has already been erected in a C-1 zoned area. Three other drive-in banks in the city are located in C-3 (commercial districts) areas, with two others located downtown on sites zoned C-2 (general business district).

The request to revise the zoning code was made by a St. Louis law firm representing Missouri State Bank, which is planning to construct a drive-in facility on West Broadway, between the Burger Chef and Gulf Service Station and immediately east of the Thompson Hills Shopping Center. The area is presently zoned C-1.

The city zoning code shows the chief difference between C-1 (local business) and C-2 (general business) zoning classifications is that the C-1 category generally involves smaller singularly-located businesses away from the central business district. Store fronts, for businesses in this category, must be set back at least 25 feet from the property line, the same distance as for homes.

C-2 zoning, conversely, blankets the local downtown business district and permits stores to be side by side and have their fronts adjoin property lines.

William Mills, president of the Missouri State Bank, explained his bank was seeking the zoning code revision because "we naturally want to locate outside the downtown area and so we do not wish to be classified C-2. Drive-in banking is designed for the convenience of customers not wanting to go downtown."

Berenyi, a member of the commission since last spring, outlined his objections in a "minority report" that he submitted to the City Council Oct. 1. The council then decided to return the proposal to the zoning commission for further consideration.

"I want to give the people of this city a chance to further study the issue for themselves," Berenyi said.

"There's the possibility that a bad precedent may be set by granting special exceptions in certain cases."

In his report, Berenyi stated he believed that drive-in banks are presently permissible in areas zoned C-2 (general business) and therefore should not be transferred to the C-1 category. He said it would constitute granting a special privilege to one type of business.

As justification for his belief that drive-in bank facilities are covered under C-2 zoning regulations, Berenyi cited a section of the city zoning code which reads that "drive-in restaurants, refreshment stands, etc., where people are served in automobiles," are operable only in areas zoned C-2.

In his report, Berenyi reasoned that this covered drive-in bank facilities, drive-in packaged liquor stores, drive-in photo development stands and other similar businesses.

"A bank is no less a private, profit-seeking commercial endeavor than a dry cleaner or a drug store," Berenyi wrote. "No facts have been presented which can justify allowing them (banks) special treatment or privileges not shared by their counterparts in other businesses."

Responding to the argument that the C-1 zoning has already been permitted in one case, Berenyi wrote he believed "sanctification of prior oversights by changing the statutes to agree with the oversight is a dangerous practice and must be avoided."

In addition, he mentioned, the current ordinance provides for non-conforming users. "If consideration of zoning changes are made completely at the request of private firms," Berenyi predicted, "the precedent has been set and the invitation made to one and all to circumvent the ordinance whenever possible."

"The ultimate result of this gradual erosion of the letter and intent of the zoning ordinance," Berenyi continued, "will be a retrogression into haphazard community growth and the subordination of the public interest to those private interests of business or individuals."

City Counselor Robert Fritz, who submitted the proposed revision to the City Council, said he believed that drive-in banks are not permitted in C-2 zoned areas because of the ambiguity of the ordinance cited by Berenyi.

"It (the ordinance) stipulates 'drive-in restaurants, refreshment stands, etc.' and it has been held that, in such cases where certain items are stipulated and then accompanied by an et cetera or similar catch-all phrase, the catch-all phrase is meaningless and hence cannot be taken to include drive-in banks," Fritz explained.

United Way tour

About 25 persons, consisting mainly of faculty, students and staff members from State Fair Community College, took a two-hour bus tour Tuesday afternoon of several facilities funded by the United Way as part of a program designed to acquaint local groups and organizations with how the United Way operates. Included in the group were representatives of several of the agencies involved, including the Red Cross, Boy Scouts and 4-H. The

Rains hamper crop harvest

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Last week's rains and lowlands flooding put another crimp in the already lagging harvest schedule, advises the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Only two days were suitable for field work. As a result, corn harvesting for the week that ended Saturday advanced only 1 per cent. Seventy per cent of the crop was mature, but only 8 per cent was cut, compared with 20 per cent at the same time last year.

Soybeans were 5 per cent harvested, well behind the 18 per cent last year. Nearly half of the crop was mature.

The grain sorghum crop was 70 per cent mature and 11 per cent had been harvested and the cotton harvest was 5 per cent complete.

Schools have thousands of empty classroom seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — American colleges and universities, which undertook a construction binge in the 1960s to accommodate an expected surge of students, are finding they have thousands of empty classroom seats.

Many would like to fill the vacancies with foreign students.

Under a pilot program Georgetown University hopes to begin next year, approximately 500 German students will be placed in 25 American schools in five areas.

Thousands more could eventually be on their way, according to Georgetown's executive vice president for educational affairs, the Rev. Edmund G. Ryan, S.J.

Father Ryan says thousands of German students are being turned away from overcrowded German universities.

"The United States in the 1960s went off on a lost weekend of building," Father Ryan said. "In the 1970s we're suffering from a massive hangover."

Young Germans and others could be the antidote for the financial suffering of under-enrolled American schools, he says.

"The Germans are talking about 30,000 to 50,000 students," he said. While this would be "entirely too large" for the near future, he thinks it is reasonable as a long-range figure.

The students in the pilot program will be clustered in five areas—Washington, D.C., Michigan, Missouri, Texas and Washington state.

Father Ryan said the percentage of college-age students attending schools past high school has leveled off at about 50 per cent.

The National Center for Education Statistics has found that recent predictions for enrollment this year and in the next few years were inflated.

The center has reported that 637,000 fewer students are likely to have enrolled this fall than had been expected and next year's enrollment will be off previous predictions by about 578,000.

Enrollment nationally, in all private and public four-year colleges, was 8.26 million last autumn, according to Vance Grant, the center's acting chief of reference estimates and projections.

Grant estimated the figure this autumn would climb to 8.37 million. While it is expected to reach 9 million by 1977, this estimate is considerably lower than previous figures.

Rice Queen

One of the dividends of the 1974 Louisiana rice harvest is the queen of the International Rice Festival. This year's queen is Miss Renee Duplechain, a high school secretary in Eunice, La. (UPI)

Morgan County will issue food stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Low income families in 22 counties in eight states soon will get food stamps to supplement meal budgets instead of government-donated commodities, the Agriculture Department announced Tuesday.

The counties include: Kansas—Clark, Ford, Grant, Hodgeman, Kearny, Meade and Seward.

Missouri—Morgan, Oklahoma—Cherokee, Craig, Grady, Lincoln and Rogers.

Officials said the counties currently provide food commodities to needy families. Congress, in new farm legislation this year, set June 30, 1974, as a deadline for all counties to shift to food stamps.

The department said exact dates when the counties began issuing food stamps will be announced locally.

The latest additions bring to more than 2,400 the number of counties operating food stamp programs. Both commodity donations and food stamps are made available jointly in 59 counties; commodity donations in 639; while seven counties do not have either program.

Huskers over MU

Sooners get nod over Longhorns

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Now, football fans, you're going to learn how a fearless forecaster operates.

The text for the lesson is Saturday's upcoming battle between Oklahoma and Texas in Dallas. This is one of the sport's classic confrontations year in and year out.

"We get ready, they get ready and we have a great game," says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "That's what college football is all about. It's the greatest excitement and atmosphere I've ever been associated with."

First, you listen to Switzer point out that "we've won the last two years and that's the first time in a long time that's happened to them." Fifteen years, to be exact, since Oklahoma roped Texas six times in a row from 1952-57.

Next, you listen to Switzer run down the Texas team:

"They're the same type of football team they've always been. They've been well-coached and have a strong defensive team. You never knock them down."

"They have a great back in Roosevelt Leaks and a quarterback (Marty Atkins) they feel will be a good one. They have good receivers, and prior to the season they felt their offensive line would be improved."

"They have an excellent kicking game. Their punter hangs the ball so high people get nervous waiting for it to come down."

Finally, Switzer advises folks wanting to preview the two teams to "get last year's papers and columns and just put that down."

Okay, Barry, Oklahoma won last year 27-0. Accordingly, the pick for this year...Oklahoma 27-0.

Last week's count was 44 right, 19 wrong and two ties for 698. For the season, it's 196-718-734.

Nebraska at Missouri: These Big Eight rivals have been playing since 1892 and Nebraska's 62-0 romp last year was the series' biggest rout. Missouri wants revenge...but gets a loss instead. Nebraska 24-13.

Ohio State at Wisconsin: Two weeks ago, Wisconsin was called the best 0-3 team in the country. Now, they're the best 1-3 team. And with Ohio State and Michigan back-to-back the Badgers may soon be the best 1-5 team. The polls say Ohio State's the best team of all. Ohio State 28-14.

Alabama at Florida: Bama's scores follow an interesting pattern—66-0, 28-13, 44-0, 28-14. Ergo...Alabama 22-0.

Washington State at Southern California: Jim Sweeney says WSU has the same kind of talent as USC. Sweeney's been hearing too many leprechauns. Southern Cal 27-7.

Michigan at Michigan State: State gave Notre Dame all it could handle last weekend before bowing 14-10. They did the same to Michigan last year and lost 10-0. That takes a Spartan constitution. Michigan 20-3.

Army at Penn State: Tom Cahill is hearing the same old lines—Army football has hit a nosedive, the other team has too many guns. "People are always extending their sympathy, but I'm not interested in sympathy." Penn State 35-0.

Georgia Tech at Tennessee: Tennessee's porous pass defense and next week's match with Alabama make it close. Tennessee 20-14.

Notre Dame at Rice: Rice will have 80 Houston area priests on its bench to counter Notre Dame's built-in advantage. "Other schools have Dad's Day," says Coach Al Conover. "This is our first annual Father's Day. We've asked the priests to wear their game uniforms. We even made them pledge they'd root for Rice. We're going to out-spiritualize Notre Dame." Notre Dame 21-7.

Louisiana State at Auburn: Defense is the name of this Southeastern Conference game. LSU 13-7.

Virginia Tech at Houston: Houston hasn't lost. Tech hasn't won. Houston 35-17.

UCLA at Stanford: From this one figures to come Southern Cal's chief threat in the Pacific-8 Conference. UCLA 28-21.

Boston College at Miami, Fla.: Miami upset Texas, struggled with winless Florida State, almost upset Oklahoma. B.C. is probably the East's No. 2 team and the Hurricanes appear ripe for the Upset Special of the Week...Boston College 21-16.

Air Force at Colorado: Rocky Mountain High. Colorado 24-21.

Tulane at Duke: Green Wave vs. Blue Devils. Color it green. Tulane 17-10.

Kansas State at Kansas: KU is ready for an upset between that heart-breaking one-point loss to Tennessee and Nebraska next week. David Jaynes' passes prevail, though. Kansas 21-20.

Maryland at North Carolina State: Atlantic Coast Conference showdown pits Maryland defense against N.C. State offense. Offense prevails. North Carolina State 24-17.

Bowling Green at Kent State: Falcons are tired of finishing second in the Mid-American Conference. Bowling Green 24-14.

Other games:

Louisville 24, North Texas State 7; Memphis State 21, Tulsa 20; Drake 21, Northern Iowa 7; Illinois 21, Purdue 20; Minnesota 21, Indiana 14; Iowa 20, Northwestern 14; Wichita State 17, Fresno State 13; Iowa State 35, Brigham Young 13.

May quit NASCAR

Claiming that he was cheated of victory at Sunday's National 500 in Charlotte, N.C., veteran NASCAR driver Bobby Allison said he was considering withdrawing from the association's sanctioned events. Allison finished third behind winner Cale Yarborough and runner-up Richard Petty. After the race, NASCAR officials checked the front two cars for alleged infractions, and said they found some, and blamed NASCAR inspection procedures for them. Allison claimed he lost as much as $60,000 by the decision. (UPI)

Cole Camp assured of first-place tie

The Cole Camp Blue Birds have assured themselves of at least a tie for the Kaysinger Conference baseball championship, but they'll have to wait about five or six months to find out exactly how the loop race will end.

Cole Camp topped Lincoln, 8-1, Tuesday and ran their record to 6-1 for the season. However, Warsaw stands at 5-1 and decided to play their season finale in the spring, after the basketball campaign. The Wildcats will face Smithton in that game.

The delay in playing the final game is due to basketball

Kim Gooch was the winning pitcher for Cole Camp Tuesday, striking out 10 Cardinals in the process. Marvin Logan led the winners' offensive attack with a two-run triple in the sixth to forge a 5-1 lead. He then scored on a throwing error to break the ball game open. Two insurance runs were added in the seventh frame.

Ray Wroblewski absorbed the loss for Lincoln, which finished the season at 4-3 in loop play.

The Cole Camp girls softball team was also a winner Tuesday, edging Lincoln, 12-11. Cole Camp finished the softball season at 5-2, but Northwest of Hughesville claimed the conference crown with a perfect record.

Big 8 roundup

Only one MU starter questionable for NU

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Half of the Big Eight will be knocking heads with each other Saturday.

Oklahoma State, after being upset by Texas Tech last Saturday, gets the day off while Oklahoma travels to Dallas for the annual splash with Texas. Colorado meets the flyboys from downstate, the Air Force Academy.

Important to the national rankings and possibly crucial to the conference outcome is the Nebraska visitation to Missouri. The Huskers may have a completely healthy squad for 12th ranked Mizzou—a gloomy prospect for Tiger Coach Al Onofrio who noted Tuesday:

"It's difficult to prepare for them because they can do so many things well. There's no where to gang up. You have to respect everything."

The only truly questionable player for Onofrio is defensive tackle Jim Parrott, suffering from a groin injury.

Kansas Coach Don Fambrough was putting the usual emphasis on passing in drills Tuesday, but he doesn't seem to think David Jaynes will have to go upstairs 60 times against Kansas State as he did against Tennessee.

That doesn't mean the offensive cards will be changed. "If something is successful for you, you don't make a lot of changes," said Fambrough—referring to the fact Kansas climbed into the top 20 rankings by coming within a point of knocking off eight-ranked Tennessee.

Further west, Coach Vince Gibson said the challenge of this year's classic was simply this:

"David Jaynes is the best quarterback we've played against since I've been at Kansas State."

At Ames, Coach Earle Bruce reported guard Dan Kneller is definitely out of the game against Brigham Young Saturday.

day because of a torn muscle above his left knee. Jeff Jones or Sherman Miller will be teaming with Bob Bos at the offense guard spots.

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer issued a report that should bring cheers from Sooners the state "round—defensive mainstay LeRoy Selmon should be ready to go full speed against Texas."

"He's still a little out of shape, but he ought to be able to go most of the game," the coach said.

JEFFERSON CITY — Jefferson City, only in its second year of cross country competition, presented coach Larry York with his third straight Central Missouri Conference Cross Country championship here Tuesday on the two-mile, Ellis-Porter Park course.

The Jays yielded first to Hannibal sophomore Steve Welch, who ran the distance in 9:52.5, but claimed second, third, fifth, sixth and 10th for a total of 26 points and an easy victory.

Home run heroes

Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds (top) and Bert Campaneris (bottom) of the Oakland Athletics tee off on their respective, extra-inning home runs that lifted their teams to victory in Tuesday's Major League playoff action. Rose connected in the 12th to break up a 1-1 deadlock with the New York Mets. Campaneris led off the bottom of the 11th with his blast over the left-field fence to guide the Athletics to a 2-1 win over Baltimore. The fifth and deciding game between the Mets and the Reds is scheduled today in New York. Oakland, which now leads the Orioles two games to one, takes on Baltimore again today in Oakland. (UPI)

Rose homer carries Redlegs

Reds, Mets face do or die

NEW YORK (AP) — They threw an apple, a tennis ball and an egg at Pete Rose, but the only flying object he cared about was a baseball. Rose hit it over the fence for a home run in the 12th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets and tie the National League playoffs at two games apiece.

"I wasn't thinking about a home run. I must confess, but I wanted to hit that ball all the way to the airport," said Rose, who apparently felt he struck a blow back at the Mets' fans for their animosity toward him. Rose had been the object of scorn here ever since his fight with New York shortstop Bud Harrelson, a scuffle that triggered a full-scale melee during Monday's bizarre game.

"Sure, I heard them booing at me every time I showed my face," said Rose. "They kept throwing things at me, too. But that only makes me play harder."

Cast as the villain, Rose heard the boos once more as he stepped to the plate in the top of the 12th inning to face New York reliever Harry Parker. Someone threw an apple at Rose, but he brushed it aside with his bat, looking darkly toward the stands. Then came the tennis ball and the egg.

It was reminiscent of Monday's affair, when Rose was showered with pop bottles, beer cans, batteries and a whiskey bottle in left field. The garbage shower took place after the Rose-Harrelson fight and the resulting battle royal.

The fans remembered Monday's infamous "Rose-Bud Incident" and continually hissed the Cincinnati left fielder before he pumped Parker's 2-2 fastball out of sight over the right field fence.

Then the 50,786 fans were dramatically silent, for the most part, as Rose circled the bases with his right hand held high in a clenched-fist gesture of victory.

Rose singled twice and walked before smashing his second homer of the five-game series.

Until Rose's winning hit, the fourth game of the National League playoffs was full of other pulsating drama. The Mets had taken a 1-0 lead in the third inning on Felix Millan's run-scoring single and George Stone protected that slim advantage until the seventh. At that point, Tony Perez slugged a home run, his first hit in 15 at-bats in this series, to tie the score at 1-1. After Stone walked Andy Kosco with two out, Tug McGraw came on the scene and pitched scoreless relief through the 11th inning.

A's take 2-1 playoff lead

Campy blast shades Baltimore

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, the 155-pounder dubbed "Baby Ruth" after home runs in two straight games, predicts the A's will win their way into the World Series again today.

"I don't care who's pitching, we'll win," declared the explosive little infielder whose 11th-inning leadoff home run beat Baltimore 2-1 Tuesday and gave Oakland a 2-1 edge in the American League playoffs.

The defending world champions will represent the American League a second straight year if they beat the Orioles' ace right-hander, Jim Palmer, today. He shut them out 6-0 in the opener of the best-of-five playoff series.

Oakland left-hander Vida Blue didn't last through the first inning in that one but he'll be back facing the Orioles again.

"We have a well-rested Blue who has shown he can pitch well against anybody," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "Certainly we have a chance against Palmer."

Campaneris hit only four home runs during the regular season.

Campaneris, who was suspended the final three games of last year's playoffs when he threw his bat at a rival pitcher, said he hit a slider, low and inside, for his game-winning homer.

"I wanted to throw it further inside," commented a disappointed Mike Cuellar who had allowed only three hits before Campy's homer.

The A's victory put all the pressure on Baltimore and Palmer.

"We have our backs to the wall," admitted the hurler who won 22 games and lost nine on the season. "If I don't pitch well and we lose, we're eliminated. I'll try to pitch the same way I did in Baltimore."

Earl Williams got Baltimore off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he slammed a Holtzman fast ball over the left field fence, the Orioles' first homer of the series.

Holtzman then retired 14 batters in order before walking Tommy Davis in the seventh.

Oakland didn't score until the eighth, when Manager Williams' strategy paid off.

"We're real pleased for him to get the recognition," Dolphin defensive coach Bill Arnsparger said Tuesday. "Bill had an outstanding game."

"He put on a lot of pressure and helped us stop their running game which, of course, let us work on their passing."

Stanfill's storming forays into the Jets' backfield helped hold Woodall to four completions on 15 passes and the untested Demery to two of five. Each had two interceptions.

Miami Coach Don Shula said he could not "remember having ever had a player who made five sacks in one ball game."

He sent Jesus Alou up to hit for catcher Ray Fosse and Alou golfed a bloop into left field for a single. Fleet Allan Lewis went in to run for Alou.

Williams had selected Angel Mangual originally as the pinch hitter for second baseman Dick Green but, with a bunt the obvious play, he switched and used Mike Andrews.

The bunt went to Cuellar, who was off balance when he fielded it. So he threw to first—the sacrifice working. Campaneris struck out but Joe Rudi banged a broken-bat single off his fists to score Lewis from second.

Season scheduled to open tonight

Player strike threatens ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Commissioner Mike Storen of the American Basketball Association said the league had reached a tentative agreement early this morning to ward off a possible players' strike.

Storen was meeting in Indianapolis with the league's player-representatives, Bill Melchionni of the New York Nets and Roger Brown of the Indiana Pacers. Storen said the two representatives wanted to contact Arlan Preblud, the players' attorney, in Denver, before officially resolving the dispute.

Efforts to call Preblud were unsuccessful but the league was hopeful of reaching him early today.

Frank Goldberg, chairman of the ABA's negotiating committee, also was in Denver for the telephone hookup.

If the players and the club owners fail to settle the contract differences involving pension rights and travel accommodations, the ABA season may not get under way tonight.

Melchionni, secretary of the players' association, said late Tuesday night that seven of the league's 10 teams had voted to authorize a strike after negotiations had broken down.

The key issue, Melchionni said from Indianapolis where the Nets were scheduled to play the Indiana Pacers tonight, is over pensions. The players are demanding that the age of eligibility for receiving a pension be lowered from 65 to 55.

Players also are demanding first-class travel on trips of more than one hour. Currently, the ABA furnishes second-class or coach fares on trips of less than two hours' duration.

Tonight's schedule, which would be postponed unless a late settlement is reached, has New York at Indiana, Memphis at Utah and San Diego at San Antonio.

Former Los Angeles Laker great Wilt Chamberlain, who jumped to the ABA to coach the San Diego Conquistadores, expressed surprise when told of the strike.

"Strike. What strike? This is the first I've heard of it," Chamberlain said from Bel Air, Calif., where he was awaiting today's superior court hearing on the Lakers' suit contesting his decision to jump to the Q's.

Chamberlain said he sympathized with the players' demands for first-class travel instead of coach.

"The National Basketball Association has flown first class for several years now," he said. "Because of the seats, it's kind of tough on us, back there in coach."

'Bleeper' ballplayer

Nine-year-old Randy Becker flashes a smile after he tossed a "bleeper ball" (center) at Glen Ward, an employee at the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Sedalia. Randy, who is blind, was given the ball by Ward Monday at Smithton School, where Randy is a student. The ball, which was purchased by telephone company employees, contains a transistorized "bleeper" which tells blind persons the ball is coming. Randy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Becker, who live about nine miles south of Smithton.

Slashing of peanut subsidies approved

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has approved a plan for slashing government peanut subsidies, a program which has cost taxpayers $650 million since 1955.

Administration sources, asking not to be identified, say Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz will announce the White House-endorsed proposal within a few weeks. The plan will require congressional action.

The administration says government price support guarantees to farmers are too high. Each year about one third of the peanut crop is taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation in USDA, which then sells it to exporters and other users at a loss because world markets normally are about one-half of the government guarantee.

Even with higher world prices this year, the CCC will lose about $60 million, officials said.

As designed now, the new plan calls for a "target price" method of guaranteeing peanut farmers a set price for their share of production consumed in the United States.

A similar plan was enacted by Congress this year for wheat, cotton and livestock feed grains. As a result, subsidies for those crops—which soared to $4 billion in 1972—are expected to be near zero in 1974, the first year of the program.

Under the target price concept, if farmers get more from the marketplace for a crop than specified by the target, no subsidies are paid. But if market prices fall below the target, subsidies are paid to make up the difference on that portion needed to meet domestic requirements.

Ann Landers

Sister upset by omission of gifts

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a sister who has nine Ladies' Ready-To-Wear stores and never sends her nieces anything, ever?

We don't need anything, thank God, but it would be nice if our teen-age daughters received a dress or a skirt now and then, something so the girls would know their aunt thinks about them once in a while.

For our silver wedding anniversary my sister phoned her "best wishes." (No present.) Last Christmas she sent four cans of fancy olives.

I try not to be bitter or resentful, but when I think of her sins of omission, it hurts. I'd like to see your answer in print. — Oak Park Heartache

Dear Oak: Here's my answer, but when you see it in print I don't think you'll like it.

Your notion that a gift is proof of caring is a crock of cranberries. The best gift of all is the gift of concern, consideration and thoughtfulness — something that represents personal sacrifice, like time from a busy person, or a hand-made present that required imagination and effort. Your attitude needs overhauling, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is sparked by "Anonymous Lady" who said she got "absolutely nothing" out of sex with her beloved husband. She was told by her doctor, "There are no frigid women, only incompetent men." And so she had an affair with her doctor. (Too bad she didn't let us in on how THAT worked out.)

I am in my late 70s and have had a life you wouldn't believe. Sex with my late beloved husband meant absolutely nothing to me, either. I consulted a woman doctor because in those days you never talked to a man about such things. She said my husband must be at fault. I decided I had been short-changed and went to bed with a gentleman I'd been flirting with for several years. It was no better with him. I had several affairs after that and not one of them approximated the ecstasy I had read about in books.

I've concluded that sex is greatly overrated. The anticipation is unquestionably more exciting than the realization. So please, Ann, tell the men out there who aren't satisfying their wives not to worry. There is probably nothing wrong with them. Other men's wives may be better actresses. — Mrs. Zero

Dear Zero: Your theory doesn't hold up, dearie — too much evidence to the contrary. The spectacular, earth-shaking, history-changing, mind-bending events that have resulted from the chemistry between man and woman suggest something beyond "faking it." Too bad you've never hit the psychedelic jackpot, but others have.

Dear Ann Landers: I've tried to find an answer to my problem in books, but it's not there. I'm a happily married woman with a fine job. I do not feel self-conscious and I'm not a prude, but I'm an inveterate blusher. People often notice my blushing and ask, "Why are you embarrassed? You're blushing!" Then I become really uncomfortable and turn five shades redder.

Is there anything I can do to control this? It's humiliating and I'd give anything to overcome it. Thanks, Ann. — Too Old For Such Nonsense In Lubbock

Dear Lub: Blushing is an involuntary act. I know of no way to control it, so my advice is enjoy it. So few girls CAN blush these days that it's downright refreshing to see one who can.

Israeli women called to battle

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli women dressed in tight khaki miniskirts are on the front lines in the Middle East war, driving jeeps and treating the wounded. Thousands of men were pulled from their homes to combat units on five minutes' notice, and many of their wives were called to reserve duty for auxiliary jobs.

"I was glad they called," said Tova, a nurse from Tel Aviv. "I was nervous until I got my orders. I felt as though the war was passing me by and I couldn't do anything. I wanted to help."

Israeli women are conscripted at age 18 and serve 20 months in uniform.

Exceptions are made for married women. Mothers stay at home, but marriage alone is no bar to reserve mobilization during crises.

Women reservists were sent to the Golan Heights and near the Suez Canal, operating switchboards, monitoring radar, doing office work and helping in field hospitals.

No women are put into combat, although they are trained in the use of small arms during their regular military service.

In Israel's first war—the fight for independence in 1948—women soldiers carried guns and fought alongside men in the front lines. Premier David Ben-Gurion then ruled that women should no longer fight.

However, reliable sources reported that some of Israel's casualties in the latest fighting were women.

"When the shells are falling 21 miles from the border, it doesn't really matter if you are on the front line or not," Tova said.

"There is always a chance of getting killed, but it's better than sitting home. All my friends are in the army. It's like a family."

The nurse is working 12 hours a day in an orthopedic ward at a hospital in Haifa, far from the lines. Wounded soldiers are brought there by helicopter from the Golan Heights.

In regular service, many of the women work in paramilitary settlements along the borders, sometimes helping on guard duty. Some become intelligence officers.

In normal times, the army earned a reputation as marriage broker.

No damage from tremor reported

ST. LOUIS (AP) — State Police in the Bootheel area of Missouri have reported no injuries or damage caused by an earth tremor reported in that area by St. Louis scientists Tuesday.

"In fact, I didn't even know we had an earthquake," said a trooper stationed at troop "E" headquarters in Poplar Bluff.

The tremor was reported by St. Louis University research assistant James Zollweg, who said the quake registered on university seismographs at 3.8 on the Richter Scale and was centered near Marston, about 150 miles south of St. Louis.

"We wouldn't expect any damage from a tremor of this magnitude," explained Zollweg, who said the shock would be felt over an area of only about a 2,500 square miles.

The research assistant said minor damage resulted from a quake measuring 3.9 on the Richter scale Feb. 1, 1972, in northeastern Arkansas.

Grandfather was prepared

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — When Vincent DeMartino saw his grandson for the first time, crying and red-faced, he couldn't have been happier.

He also couldn't have been more surprised because grandpa, a New York bartender better known to his patrons as "Vinnie," had just played a makeshift role of obstetrician.

There was almost no warning that the baby was due.

"My daughter felt a labor pain, so my wife went to call the doctor. She was barely on the phone when 'Pow!' here comes the baby," DeMartino said Sunday.

"She told the doctor 'I hear crying, but that can't be!' and I said 'Yes it can. Here he is!' By the time she hung up the phone and came back into the room, she was a grandmother!"

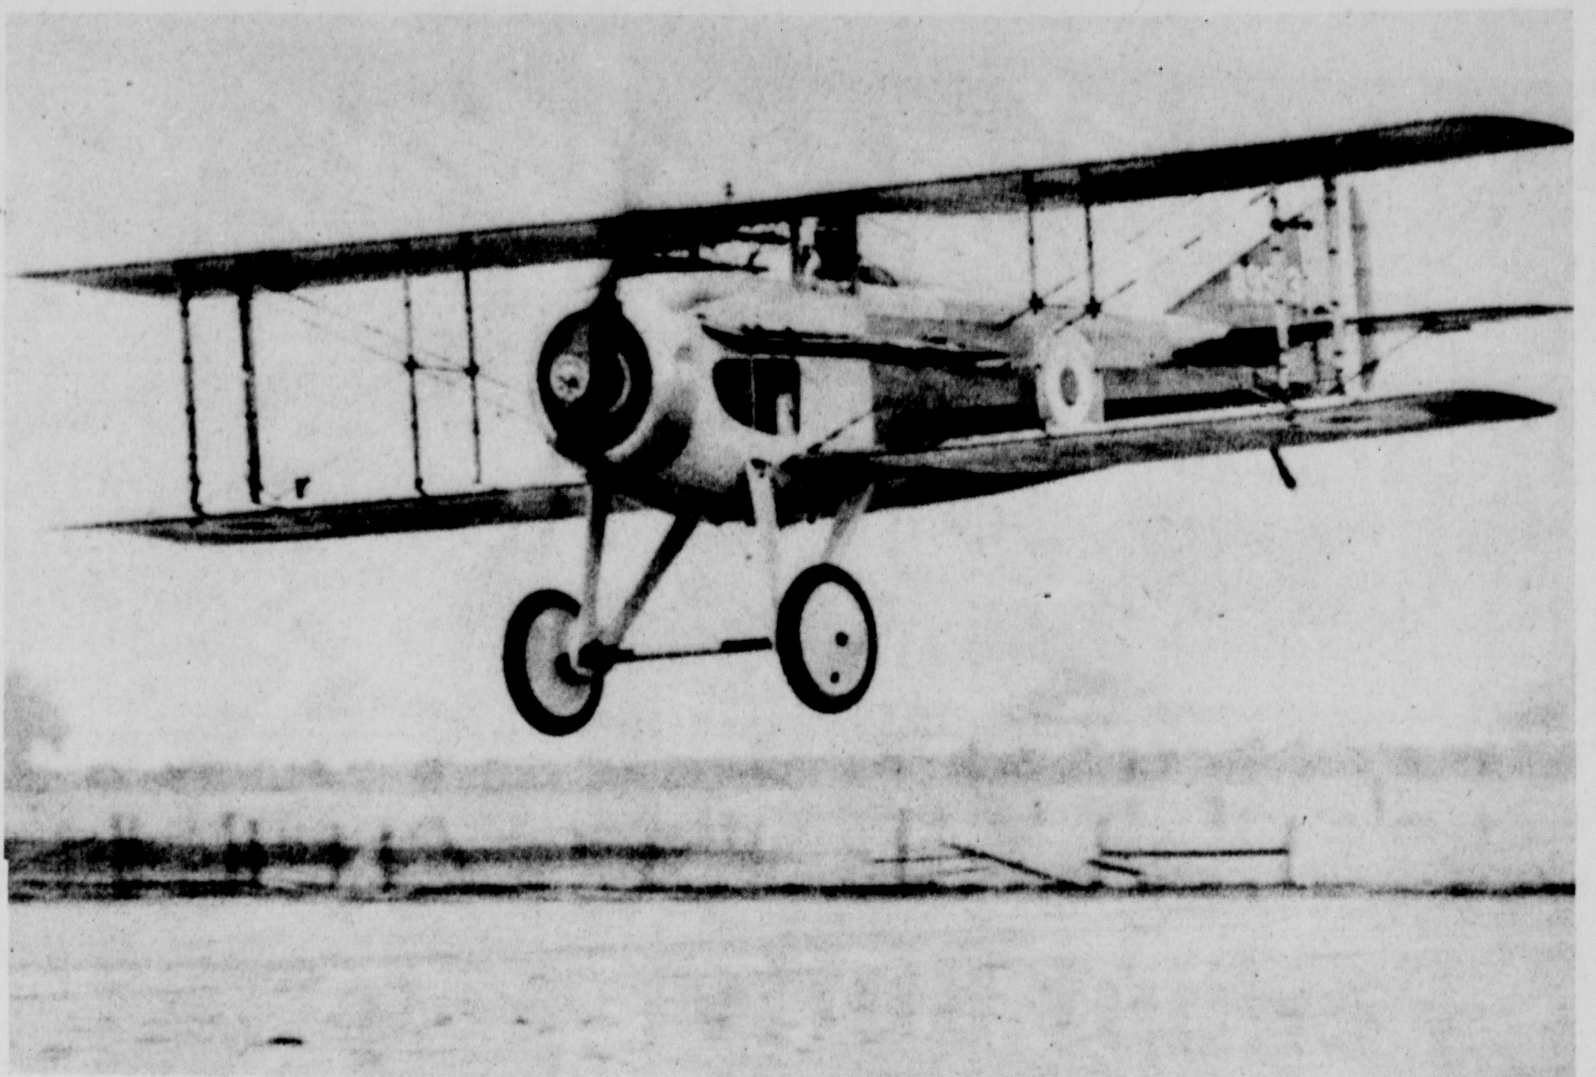

DeMartino was better prepared than most emergency obstetricians. He is an active member of the South Plainfield Rescue Squad. "This was the second time I was ever involved in delivering a baby, but of course, this one was different," he said.

When the doctor finally got to see Kenneth Michael Hamilton, 6 pounds, 9½ ounces, it was apparent grandpa had been an excellent substitute.

And to make the hasty, unorthodox delivery official, Kenneth's birth certificate duly recorded "Vincent DeMartino" as the person who brought him into the world. The certificate also listed DeMartino's title: "Grandfather."

Kenneth's father, also named Kenneth, missed the whole event. He was stationed at a Seabee base in Rhode Island when his father-in-law delivered his first-born.

Aircraft rebuilt

With test pilot James Nissen at the controls, a World War I Spad 7 fighter plane comes in for a landing at Meadowlark Field in Livermore, Calif., recently after its maiden flight. The 1916 biplane was built by James Rickles of San Carlos, Calif., who scoured the nation for enough bits and pieces to recreate the plane World War I fighter ace Eddie Rickenbacker called "the best ship I flew." Rickles estimates it cost $40,000 in parts and labor to rebuild the plane.

Thirty-year plus prisoner has a chance for freedom

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A 62-year-old Philippine immigrant has a chance for freedom after spending more than half his life in state prisons and mental hospitals with almost no chance to talk with anyone.

Officials said Vincent Dawa, who speaks a Philippine dialect, has been able to hold only extremely limited conversations during his 34 years of confinement since being condemned to death for murder.

He has learned only a few words of English since entering a prison in 1939, six months before the start of World War II, authorities said.

On Wednesday, Dawa is to appear in Marin County Superior Court here for a sanity hearing which could be the first step toward gaining a parole.

Dawa was a 28-year-old farm worker when convicted in 1939 of fatally shooting a Chinese fan-tan dealer in Sacramento. Witnesses said Dawa accused the dealer of cheating him of $1.65 and became enraged when the dealer laughed at him.

He was condemned to die in San Quentin's gas chamber.

But the execution was postponed three times before a psychiatrist convinced a judge to rule him insane and transfer him from prison to a mental institution in 1941.

Buford Toney, Dawa's court-appointed attorney, said medical records either weren't kept or have disappeared for the first 20 years of his client's hospitalization.

He was transferred to the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo last year and, with the help of a counselor there, began his attempt to gain freedom.

A Sacramento judge changed Dawa's sentence to life imprisonment in March of this year, making parole a possibility. But the state parole board cannot act on a prisoner ruled insane.

A Department of Corrections psychiatrist who examined Dawa in June and found he had regained his sanity authorized this week's sanity hearing. And if he is judged sane, Dawa will return to San Quentin to await a hearing before the parole board. "Nobody cared about his problem," said Grace Ignacio, a Sacramento County social worker. She visited Dawa last April at the colony, where he has served as cook and gardener.

"I asked him if he wanted to get out," she said. "He said, 'Yes, very much.'"

She said Dawa, who has diabetes and a heart condition, told her "he wants to go back to the Philippines and work in the fields."

Secretary to Dr. Marvin Fielding, vice-president for instruction at State Fair Community College, Mrs. Bruns has been with the school

Mrs. Mary B. Bruns

Balloon chase

It was up, up and away early Sunday morning as balloonists from all over the country inflated their balloons for a "hare and hound" chase. In the event, one balloon takes off and lands and the rest of the balloons take chase and try to land next to it. The balloon landing closest to the "hare" balloon wins. The chase was part of this weekend's Adirondack Balloon Festival in Glens Falls, N.Y.

Military angle to Soviet overtures

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Current research by analysts of the Soviet Union explains why Leonid Brezhnev is seeking vast amounts of economic and technical aid in the U.S.

Cromley

Simply, the U.S.S.R. needs that assistance to enable its strategic military forces to forge ahead of ours.

Mammoth Soviet military outlays in the past few years have so drained Russia's resources of technical talent, scarce resources and capital funds that the Russian rulers are unable to build the modern plants, set up the computer systems, increase their industrial efficiency and their output of industrial goods and consumer products sufficiently to meet their needs.

The growth of the civilian economy is slowing markedly. Soviet rulers are worried because their military strength, in the end, depends on a strong industrial base. And there is a limit beyond which consumer demands cannot be ignored.

Specialists here say the three new major missile programs recently reported by U.S. intelligence must have cost in the neighborhood of $5 billion each to date. Finishing the job and bringing them into production will cost billions more. The United States — and her civilians and military men agree — cannot afford such enormous military outlays as are necessitated by the development of three such major new missile programs simultaneously.

Soviet military spending per dollar of total gross national product is roughly twice that of the United States. And USSR military research and development spending seems to be growing.

For a good many years, the opinion here in some influential sectors was that the Russians could have their cake and eat it too. It was believed that in a controlled economy, where butter could be held back and civilians neglected, that industrial and military production could rise steadily, independently of each other — almost.

But new research here demonstrates clearly that periods of rapid increase in Soviet military spending coincide with decelerations in the growth rate of total national output in the civilian sector, which includes the industrial base.

The quantitative slowdown is not the most serious aspect of this lag. When first priority goes to the military amid scarcities of talent and of materials, then there is a serious lag in new technology and a lag in productivity in industry. In other words, civilian technological research suffers, not only because the money for such research is tight, but because the best technical talent is drained off for military development.

This means that the Kremlin is now desperately searching to find in technology the solution to its lagging growth. (In the advanced technology areas that count, West Germany, Japan and the United States are leaving the Soviet Union in the dust.) Yet the Soviet rulers are not willing to slow their frenetic military growth to meet these basic national needs. Instead they are depending on the United States to hold back its own military growth sufficiently to provide the USSR the technical expertise, the financial assistance and the trade concessions Russia needs to build both a super military force and a strong industrial and agricultural base to support both the strategic forces and civilian economy.

Push for prayers in schools

WASHINGTON — Thanks to a Constitution that circumscribes the role of government, this society has for generations enjoyed as much religious freedom as any known to man.

Rowan

The American people have lived pretty secure in their right to be Baptists, Catholics, Seventh Day Adventists—or no religion at all.

We must wonder then why there is this never-ending pressure from holier-than-thou and wiser-than-thou zealots to put politicians into the business of worship by pressuring them to amend the Constitution to permit prayers in public schools.

Perhaps it has something to do with the nature of organized religion, which makes chronic evangelists and proselytizers of those who consider themselves the most devout. They can't bear to see the rest of mankind "deprived" of that special kind of sainthood which they feel.

Or maybe it has something to do with the tendency of people to feel they know better how to raise the children next door than the parents of the children next door.

Perhaps some politicians keep trying to intrude into religion because claims to godliness have been successfully exploited by power-seekers almost from the beginning of man.

Whatever the reason, the school-prayer advocates are back, and they have introduced 27 different resolutions in the Congress to amend the Constitution so that every schoolboy little Johnny will have a chance to pray, or hear someone else pray, to a deity that Johnny may or may not recognize or worship.

The word is out that this time the "back to God" forces may succeed in putting prayer back in the schools. The Catholic hierarchy has done a turnabout and is now in favor of school prayers, a fact that may cause enough vote switches to amend the Constitution.

For reasons that defy logic, the prayer people also seem to be making headway by pushing the spurious argument that this society is plagued by bribery, alcoholism, rape, drugs, pornography, sex permissiveness, etc., because we've gone 10 years without any prayers in the public schools. What a fraud when supposedly religious people want to delude Americans into believing that, while they can't quite pray enough at church or home to halt cheating, killing, burglary, sex orgies and all the crimes they deplore, just put prayers back in old Public School 31 and they can make this nation a diadem of morality again.

Does anyone really believe that we improve the quality, the integrity, the decency of public business by festooning it with the trappings of religion?

As for prayer in the schools, there is evidence aplenty that many of the more vociferous advocates talk more religion than they practice. They want to impose prayer on school children who already know that the public schools are in a mess in most cities because self-styled "patriots" and evangelists of piety behave in ways that would make Jesus weep.

They gerrymander school district lines, cheat on the allocation of resources, wage emotional campaigns against busing to achieve educational equality and if that fails they flee to lily-white suburbs — all by way of leaving public schools entrenched in racism.

But they want you, me and the Congress to believe all we need is a little schoolhouse prayer to infuse a sense of morality, compassion, justice, decency into the nation's children.

Let's abandon this phony pretense that school prayers will cleanse this society. Only individuals cleansing themselves will do that. So leave the First Amendment alone.

Notwithstanding the improvement in industrial conditions since the inauguration of the N.R.A. program and the reduction in the number of unemployed which has already been made, it has not yet been sufficient to eliminate the necessity for relief measures during the coming winter.

One good thing

Biologists in Iceland say sunspots adversely affect the spawning of codfish. A Boston meteorologist pointed out that heavy snowstorms east of the Rocky Mountains are associated with sunspots. On the plus side, a French researcher found that great vintages in Burgundy wines follow maximum solar activity.

New Mideast war must end quickly

The new war in the Mideast, which erupted Saturday, must be brought to a close quickly. Every day that the conflagration continues increases the chances of it spreading in scope.

This will not be another Six-Day War, which saw Israel pull off an easy victory in 1967. Faced with a two-front war against Egypt, Syria and now Iraq—and with the very real possibility of other belligerents entering the conflict—Israel is fighting for its very life.

Thus far the United Nations has been unable to even agree on the language of a cease-fire resolution. The United States is virtually alone in its Security Council position that belligerents return to their previous borders, while Russia and Communist China insist on a return to pre-1967 lines.

U.S. hopes for detente with Russia have been dealt a severe blow by Chairman Leonid Brezhnev's flagrant fanning of Arab flames. The Soviet Communist party chief has called for Algeria and other Arab nations to join in the war against Israel, while announcing it was providing "aid and support in many forms."

Brezhnev's reckless course in the Mideast conflict gives the lie to Soviet pretensions as a peacemaker. If other nations in the Mideast are engulfed in the war, Russia will bear a large share of the responsibility.

Other more subtle approaches are being utilized to eliminate support for Israel. The call by oil-rich Kuwait for an urgent conference by Arab nations on means of manipulating oil exports to aid the Arab cause can only be aimed at bringing pressures to bear on the United States.

But now is no time for Israel or its principal friend, the U.S., to cave in to pressures, be they military or diplomatic.

"...and You Guarantee I'll Always Be Warm?"

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A confidential congressional memo accuses the giant grain companies of using their power over transportation to squeeze small farmers out of their profits.

The memo, prepared for the House Agriculture Committee by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., charges that "farmers are being fleeced by big grain companies gouging them for use of hopper cars needed to get their grain to market."

Here's how the squeeze play works:

The agribusiness barons have gained a stranglehold on boxcars. The grain elevators are full, so the farmers can't store their grain. The only boxcars available are controlled by the grain companies, which offer the farmers as little for their grain as $1 a bushel less than the market price.

"The spread between prices paid farmers for grain at interior points in America and value at port of final destination has increased two and threefold..." declares the memo. "Only a very fortunate few farmers whose marketing organization is able to move grain are really getting the prices we see in the paper."

The difference is going into the fat bank accounts of the agribusiness barons who are profiting by controlling the rails like the robber barons of old.

NIXON THE LAWYER: When John Dean was still President Nixon's fair-haired legal counsel, we reported Dean had been fired from his first law job for a grievous conflict of interest. This stirred rumors that the President, himself, had been cited for unethical conduct on his first law job. We have now dug back 35 years to find out what kind of lawyer young Richard Nixon was.

After graduating third in his class scholastically from Duke Law School, Nixon joined the prestigious, old Whittier, Calif., law firm of Wingert and Bewley in 1937. He was the same orderly, studious, fastidious Nixon, driven by ambition, that his subordinates would recognize today. One of his first acts, for example, was to clean out the law firm's musty library, clean the shelves and rearrange the books.

He buried himself in work and rapidly became the firm's chief trial lawyer. He was also a specialist on estates and taxes.

Merry-go-round

Large grain firms control rail cars

There is one reference in the early court records to his professional conduct.

His law firm obtained a court order compelling a land sale to pay damages that had been awarded to a client. Nixon showed up at the sale on June 29, 1938, and purchased the property for the client, without authorization. Nixon paid the full amount of the unpaid portion of the damages.

The client, charging that Nixon purchased the land without her knowledge, asked the court to set aside the sale. While the old Canon of Ethics then in force was vague, it had been established practice that an attorney shouldn't make purchases for a client without the client's express authority.

FOOTNOTE: The White House responded to our questions by saying it was "absurd" to comment on a case 35 years old.

SECRET SACKING: At secret U.S. insistence, the South Vietnamese government has sacked its corrupt customs personnel director. A message classified "Secret-Sensitive" from U.S. Customs Service's Saigon field office to Washington urged American pressure to fire Nguyen Huy Xuong.

The message warned that Xuong was involved in the narcotics traffic and, worse, that his sensitive position permitted him to place corrupt underlings in key South Vietnamese seaports and airports.

"We ask that you request your sources to obtain the removal of this individual (Xuong)," appealed the secret dispatch to Washington. "If we can place an honest, decent man in this position, he legally can keep the cliques or groups of persons in separate areas so they cannot band together. (This would) assist the United States in the seizure of large quantities of narcotics."

U.S. pressure was applied and resulted in Xuong's dismissal. But our federal narcotics sources tell us gloomily that his departure didn't have the desired result. South Vietnam's customs service remains riddled with corruption.

NADER HATER: Some people think Ralph Nader is all wet. The other night at the Kennedy Center, he was.

Nader had a glass full of ice water dashed in his face by Nick Zill, the husband of a disgruntled ex-Nader raider.

Seething with anger and dripping with water, Nader demanded an apology from host Stewart Mott, the General Motors heir and Nader admirer. Mott complied.

MASON'S MUTINY: House Democrats are in a huff over the defection of George Mahon, the powerful, 73-year-old appropriations chairman, on the critical override vote on the emergency hospitals program. Speaker Carl Albert was able to jawbone all but six Democrats to vote to override.

But Mahon and Internal Security Chairman Richard Ichord ignored the appeal. Now, liberal Democrats are seriously talking about challenging the position of the two chairmen. "I don't see why they should get the benefits of leadership if they don't follow the party's position," one congressman told us.

Israel rally

An overflow crowd jammed Chicago's Civic Center Tuesday at a rally to show support for Israel and opposition to the attacks by Egyptian and Syrian forces. Speakers at the rally, sponsored by the Jewish United Fund, included Ill. Gov.

Daniel Walker, Chicago Mayor Richard Daley and other political and religious leaders. Walker told the crowd, estimated at 1,500 persons, that Americans should unequivocally support the cause of Israel. (UPI)

College campuses calm during Middle East war

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jewish solidarity rallies drew more than 6,000 persons in St. Louis and Kansas City Tuesday night, but area college campuses have been calm since the renewed hostilities between Arabs and Israelis in the Middle East.

At the University of Missouri-Columbia, plans were being made for a dialogue between Arab students and students belonging to a Zionist group.

More than 4,500 persons were at the Jewish Community Center in suburban Creve Coeur to hear Louis Zorensky, president of the Jewish Federation of St.

Louis, renew an appeal for $2 million. Zorensky said $40,000 had been raised since the federation set the goal Sunday night for the Israeli Emergency Fund.

A succession of speakers at the Beth Shalom Synagogue in Kansas City exhorted some 1,600 persons to put their faith into action with donations to Israeli charities and letter-writing campaigns to public figures around the world.

The group heard a telegram of support from Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo.

The Jewish Federation and Council of Greater Kansas City hopes to raise some $1 million for Israeli social services slowed by the wartime demands.

At the University of Kansas, where there are about 60 Arab students, Mohammed Akkila, president of the KY Arab Students organization, said that in the absence of any first-hand reports, "most of the Arabs at KU are going back to their studies and none of us has plans to go home."

Arab students were distributing leaflets Tuesday at the University of Missouri-Columbia. Members of Hamagshimim, a student Zionist organization, planned to distribute pamphlets through the weekend at MU and Stephens College, also in Columbia.

Abdul Said, a Saudi Arabian, said the Organization of Arab Students and members of Hamagshimim were making plans for discussions later this week.

Todd Dillinger of Kansas City, chairman of the MU Zionist group, said Hamagshimim has scheduled a meeting on the MU campus Thursday night. It is the holy day of Succoth when Jews are forbidden such acts of distributing leaflets. Dillinger said, "but we feel this to be of great importance and of great gravity."

Leaders of the Metropolitan Inter-Church Agency in Kansas City, all clergymen, sent a letter to Secretary General Kurt Waldheim of the United Nations urging "serious and sincere negotiations by both parties."

The letter read, in part: "We urge the members of the United Nations as the body of world governments to put aside political differences and to once and for all attempt to deal with the Middle East situation, to create a lasting and permanent peace."

Youths face extradition on bank robbery charge

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Three Kansas City, Mo. youths will face extradition proceedings Friday on a charge of bank robbery and abducting a Ridgeway, Mo. banker Tuesday.

They had bond set at $50,000 each in a preliminary appearance Tuesday before U.S. Magistrate Ronald Longstaff.

The three are accused of abducting Arlo Price from his home early Tuesday, forcing him to open a vault at the bank and escaping with $2,800.

U.S. Atty. Allan Donielson said the three are Robert Fulton, 16, Michael Neilson, 16, and David Zeledon, 20.

Longstaff appointed attorneys for the three and said the removal hearing will be held in his court.

The three were being held in the Polk County jail pending extradition proceedings.

Donielson said three young men, knocked at the door of Price's home a mile south of Ridgeway about 2 a.m.

Donielson said they were armed with a sawed-off shotgun and two pistols.

Price was forced to accompany the trio to the Farmers National Bank in Ridgeway, Donielson said. Price is vice president and cashier of the bank.

After opening the vault, Price told his abductors the main safe was on a time lock but he could open a lower chamber containing miscellaneous cash.

Price said they threw a sack on the floor and he put about

Shades of the '20s

TORONTO (AP)—Tom Groves claimed a world record in 1973 after swallowing 227 live goldfish in nine and a half hours, exceeding by two the mark set in 1970 by a San Antonio student.

Groves washed them down with six beers and a strawberry milkshake, and also consumed a cheeseburger and two chocolate bars.

"They were headed north," Donielson said, "and we covered the escape route."

He said FBI agents at the Des Moines airport saw a taxicab pull up about noon with three occupants matching the description of the fugitives.

The arrests were made without incident.

"They had purchased airline tickets for Sacramento, Calif. in the amount of $328," Donielson said. The tickets were bought at a downtown Des Moines airlines reservation office.

He said agents recovered $2,302 "so we're missing about $116."

College receives share of an estate

State Fair Community College recently received $114,441, its portion as one of the beneficiaries of the estate of Miss Mamie McCormick, a former Pettis County educator.

Fred E. Davis, SFCC president, said, "We feel this is not only a vote of confidence in the college, but a real tribute to Miss McCormick, whose entire life was devoted to the field of education."

Miss McCormick was born in Pettis County south of Sedalia on July 16, 1892, the daughter of Walter V. and Minnie Culp McCormick.

She started her life in education at Liberty School and graduated from the old Sedalia High School in 1909. Miss McCormick attended Central Missouri State Teachers College, Warrensburg, receiving a B.S. degree in education in 1912.

She taught at Whittier School here before doing additional study at the University of Missouri-Columbia, where she took her M.S. degree.

Miss McCormick later taught at Western Kentucky State Teacher's College and Normal School, Bowling Green, Ky., and the Horace Mann School at East Central State Teacher's College, Ada, Okla.

Miss McCormick was a member of the First Christian Church, and Osage Chapter of DAR, serving as historian and registrar. She also served on the genealogical and lineage research committees in that organization.

Israelis apparently are winning battle

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer

WITH ISRAELI TROOPS IN OCCUPIED SYRIA (AP) — Charred Syrian tanks were strewn over the field as Israeli armor rumbled by. Israeli soldiers looked tired and grim coming back from battle.

This was the scene Tuesday near the front line in the occupied Golan Heights, where Syrian and Israeli tanks, artillery and aircraft have fought furiously for three days over a few miles of rocky soil.

The area, about two miles from the 1967 cease-fire line in the southern sector of the Golan, was reached by this newsman—apparently one of the first outsiders to arrive deep in the battle zone.

A dozen Russian-made Syrian tanks were scattered over one field only three miles from the scene of further tank duels. No disabled Israeli tanks were visible.

Asked where the damaged Israeli tanks were, a military policeman replied: "There's one on the other side of the field—that's it."

Israel says it has pushed back invading Syrian forces to the cease-fire line, except in a few areas where the Syrians maintain a weakening grasp on a few hundred yards. The evidence seemed to support the claim.

The Israelis admit Syrian tanks penetrated five miles into Israeli-held land in the first surprise assault. Syria claims to have recaptured the mountain plateau, which it lost in the 1967 fighting.

The Syrian tanks were fire-blackened and mutilated.

Where were the Syrian tank crews? A corporal said: "They have been taken care of."

Artillery gunners in the rear told of advancing two or three miles in the last day to provide support fire for armor on the front.

"We follow the line," one gunner said, "whenever it moves, we move. Just the fact that I am here instead of two

New members are installed by Optimists

The Optimist Club installed two new members, James L. Page and William Stratton, at its regular meeting Tuesday.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce was read concerning a Christmas parade float. It was announced that Ladies Night will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 30 at Ramada Inn.

Greg Cook, Smith-Cotton High School football coach, talked to the group about Friday's game with the Jefferson City Jays. Filmed highlights of the game were shown to members. Cook said that Smith-Cotton has a difficult schedule this year.

to spades. It has one great weakness in that partner is likely to forget when his partner jumps to four and let the hand play in the wrong suit.

If North plays at four spades East will open a heart. West can take two hearts and lead a third, whereupon North will have no play for his contract.

With South declarer at four spades the best lead West can make is a diamond. South wins in his hand; draws trumps; leads a club and finesses his 10.

West wins and leads a second diamond, won by dummy's king. A second club is led; the jack finessed successfully and dummy's last diamond is discarded on the club ace.

Officials take action to prevent bus shutdown

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis officials have taken action which may prevent the threatened shutdown of the financially-ailing Bi-State bus system Saturday.

Following a meeting with St. Louis and St. Louis County officials, the Ways and Means Committee of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen reported a measure calling for a $234,000 subsidy to the transit system.

Bi-State has said that it must have at least $200,000 by Saturday, or it will be forced to halt bus service in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

The measure supplying funds from the city's receipts of a half-cent transportation sales tax cleared the seven-man committee by only one vote as the three black members of the group refused to endorse the bill until the transit system makes some guarantee that fares will be reduced to 25 cents and service will be improved.

There was some doubt Tuesday that the measure could be voted on by the full board of aldermen Friday without suspending the rules—a process requiring a two-thirds vote of the board. Supporters of the bill were not believed to have enough votes to approve a rules suspension, which could mean that the earliest the transit system could receive the money would be Saturday.

A spokesman for Bi-State said the bus system would be down to $10,000 in operating cash by Saturday.

Government officials attending the meeting with Bi-State Tuesday agreed to the quick formation of a committee to look into a proposal to reduce fares and improve service and make its recommendation to the aldermen and council members, who must appropriate the sales tax revenues to subsidize the bus system.

People in the news

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Actor Curt Jurgens and his fourth wife have reconciled on the eve of a scheduled divorce hearing. Jurgens' lawyer said Tuesday.

Divorce proceedings for the Austrian actor and French-born model Simone Boucheron had been initiated after a 15-year marriage amid press reports of a romance between Simone and an unnamed Greek movie maker.

Lawyer Erich Kaestlin did not comment on this but said the motto of the reconciliation here Monday night was that "divorce should not be the price for the bit of freedom which we wish to enjoy."

Jurgens and his wife were not available for comment.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Gov. Marvin Mandel's press aide says the woman Mandel intends to marry has converted from Catholicism to Judaism, the governor's faith.

But Frank A. DeFilippo said Tuesday he didn't know whether the four children of Jean Dorsey would also embrace Judaism. He said the unpublished conversion of Mrs. Dorsey took place six months ago under the direction of Rabbi Abraham Shusterman of Baltimore.

Mandel, 57, announced last July that he was ending his marriage of 32 years to Barbara Overfeld Mandel to wed Mrs. Dorsey, who lives in Leonardtown, Md.

Mandel subsequently moved out of the governor's mansion and into an apartment at the state capital, Annapolis. Mrs. Mandel has remained in the mansion.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rear Adm. Jeremiah A. Denton Jr. has requested that he be assigned as commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College here when the post becomes vacant in January.

Denton, who was shot down over North Vietnam July 18, 1965, spent 7½ years as a prisoner of the Communists before his release after the Vietnam peace settlement early this year.

Denton's wife Jane said Tuesday he thinks the Staff College assignment "would be the best for him for professional reasons as well as the best for his family."

The post sought by Denton, who has been recuperating at his Virginia Beach, Va., home since his release, is now held by Air Force Maj. Gen. James P. Kirkendall, who is to be relieved in January.

The job rotates among Army, Navy and Air Force officers and a Navy man is next in line. The assignment is subject to confirmation by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada, en route to Peking for a meeting with Premier Chou En-lai of China, took his wife to dinner Tuesday.

Mrs. Trudeau, who is expecting the couple's second child, will accompany her husband to China.

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — Prince Philip of Britain arrived here today en route to Christchurch as a guest of honor at the 1973 conference of the Royal Agricultural Society of the Commonwealth.

The Duke was greeted by Governor General Sir Denis Blundell. Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk and Cabinet ministers when his Royal Air Force plane touched down at Wellington International Airport.

While in Christchurch, Queen Elizabeth's husband will inspect facilities for the 1974 Commonwealth Games which he and the queen will open next January.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace has been presented with a moto-alized version of the wheelchair designed by Lord Snowdon, the husband of Princess Margaret of Britain.

The electric-powered invention, called a "chairmobile", consists of a chair mounted on a three-wheeled platform. A removable column in front of the chair contains the steering and driving mechanism.

York Noble, representing the British manufacturers of the chair, told Wallace Tuesday that Snowdon designed it after working with Britain's National Fund for Research into Crippling Diseases.

Nobel said Snowdon felt conventional wheelchairs look "like a bit of old plumbing" and set out to design one that is more attractive and functional.

Wallace was paralyzed in both legs in May 1972 when he was shot by a would-be assassin at Laurel, Md. while campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Jean Westwood, former national chairman of the Democratic party, says she is planning a campaign for the U.S. Senate in Utah.

"But I will not make an official announcement until January or February—and I will do that in my home state," she said Tuesday.

Mrs. Westwood spoke Monday night at an Arizona Women's Political Caucus gathering and indicated she would run for the Senate seat held by Republican Wallace Bennett, who is retiring.

Administration concerned by lack of Soviet restraint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is uneasy about a lack of Soviet restraint in the new Middle East war, but U.S. officials are not yet willing to publicly charge Moscow with irresponsibility.

The concern over Soviet attitudes is limited at this time to what the Russians are saying. The officials say there is no indication now that Moscow intends to get involved directly or will supply large new shipments of arms to the Arabs.

The officials are cautious in their judgment of the Soviet role for two reasons: they don't want to go on the record with a firm assessment that might quickly be proved wrong, and they don't want to get into a shouting match with Moscow.

So far, the officials acknowledge, this has been a relatively one-sided situation. The Soviets have charged Israel with aggression, and their United Nations ambassador, Jacob Malik, said Tuesday night that Israeli leaders are "international criminals."

In addition, Soviet officials in Moscow and Russian ambassadors are calling in Arab diplomats to advise them to give direct support to Egypt and Syria and to assure them of the Kremlin's full backing.

On the other hand, the United States has yet to issue a public statement in support of Israel.

And, while the State Department and Pentagon say the Arabs struck first, they have not condemned Egypt and Syria for starting the fighting.

American officials say the administration is willing to accept this situation for several reasons. For one, any hope that Washington can be accepted by both sides in arranging an ultimate Mideast settlement could be destroyed by strong charges against the Arabs.

There is also concern about the already critical oil situation, and the United States is worried that the Middle East crisis could hurt relations with the Russians.

The Arab-Israeli war and its relation to American foreign policy has been the subject of constant meetings by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon and other government officials, including a session today at the White House with congressional leaders.

At a White House dinner Tuesday, Kissinger said he may postpone an Oct. 13 trip to London because of the war.

The meeting with the Capitol Hill figures came after Sens. Henry A. Jackson of Washington and Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey, both Democrats, called for new shipments of American military equipment to Israel.

Administration spokesmen have refused to comment on the U.S. military-aid program for Israel. However, there are no signs of any American cut-back in its arms sales to Israel or that Washington would not

Egyptian military leader is respected

BEIRUT (AP) — Maj. Gen. Saadeh Shazli, the Egyptian chief of staff who helped plan his army's thrust across the Suez Canal, took a military training course in the Soviet Union and says he also studied infantry tactics at Fort Benning, Ga.

Arab officers who know him say the tall, 49-year-old general is a "first-rate, aggressive field commander."

Shazli commanded Egypt's elite Special Forces along the Suez Canal until President Anwar Sadat tapped him for chief of staff in mid-1971 after a purge of top military leaders.

He was thought to be a voice of moderation, telling Sadat that his troops did not yet have the capability to take the field against Israel. But he also was aware that his soldiers were becoming more and more restless.

"I guess it became increasingly apparent to him and War Minister Gen. Ahmed Ismail that there was no other choice but to fight given the continuing political deadlock," one Arab officer commented.

Shazli is a popular commander and is considered a soldier's soldier.

"They admire his skill, high education, toughness and efficiency," said one source.

In a broadcast Tuesday night, Shazli said his troops' push through Israel's Bar-Lev defensive line on the east bank of the Suez Canal "shattered the myth of Israeli superiority" and transformed the Sinai Desert "into a vast graveyard for the enemy."

Shazli has a master's degree in political science and has been described as somewhat scornful of Egyptian political life, at least until he became chief of staff. Now diplomats in Cairo mention him as a possible "man who" if the day ever comes when the army takes over in Egypt again.

replace heavy equipment if Israel faced imminent danger. American officials are hampered in their policy-making by several uncertainties, including doubt about the tide of battle.

There also is doubt about why the Arabs attacked Israel's positions.

The predominant opinion is that the primary goal of Cairo and Syria was political—to force the big powers to impose a settlement on the Middle East.

Watergate upset Bush's objectives

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush thought his main job as Republican national chairman would be to convert President Nixon's 1972 landslide victory into a "New Republican Majority." Then came Watergate.

It led the 48-year-old Texan to become a party spokesman seeking to separate the Republicans from the scandal enveloping their own administration.

"There has been a need to put the party role into perspective," the former ambassador to the United Nations explained in an interview. "There has been a need to get that message across, the fact that the national committee is not responsible, that the party is not involved."

Though Bush renewed the now-familiar Republican litany that Watergate won't hurt the GOP at the polls, he conceded he has become more cautious about party prospects in the 1974 congressional elections.

He said the loss next month of Republican-held governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, which some party leaders see as a growing possibility, "wouldn't look good at all" but added that a string of GOP successes in recent local

Republicans, Democrats review chances in 1974

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican campaign strategists say they face an uphill battle to head off Senate losses in 1974 after Ohio Sen. William B. Saxbe announced his retirement and sources reported Kentucky Sen. Marlow W. Cook also will step down.

Democrats, meanwhile, said they have a good chance to capture both seats in 1974, as well as the Utah seat being surrendered by 74-year-old Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

They see a chance to hold their present 57-43 advantage and perhaps increase it in 1974.

Saxbe, who made his decision known Tuesday, was the fifth senator to announce he won't run again in 1974. In addition to Bennett, the others are Republican Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, and Democrats Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Alan Bible of Nevada.

Republicans suffered another blow last week when Iowa Gov. Robert Ray, rated their strongest likely candidate for the Hughes seat, announced he would not run for the Senate.

Interviews with both Republican and Democratic campaign officials produced general agreement on the current outlook. Of the 34 seats being contested in 1974, the Democrats now hold 19.

Besides Utah, Kentucky and Ohio, the GOP-held seats in which Democrats think they have the best chance in 1974 are those of Sen. Milton R. Young in North Dakota and Robert Dole in Kansas.

Besides Iowa and Nevada, Republicans consider Sen. Mike Gravel of Alaska vulnerable and feel they have a chance against Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, Birch E. Bayh of Indiana and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut.

South Dakota Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is considered by both parties to be in a relatively strong position in his home state.

Attorney says Ray deprived of rights

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An attorney for James Earl Ray argued before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday that Ray was deprived of his right to counsel when he pleaded guilty to the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Washington attorney Bernard Fensterwald Jr., told the court his client was pressured into pleading guilty in exchange for a 99-year prison sentence-avoiding the possibility of execution because his attorney had a conflict of interest.

Ray, now an inmate in the Tennessee State Penitentiary, was represented by Percy Foreman when he pleaded guilty in 1969 to the 1968 slaying of the civil rights leader in Memphis.

Fensterwald is seeking to overturn Ray's guilty plea and the prison sentence. Ray has already unsuccessfully appealed his conviction through the state courts.

Fensterwald told the appeals court Tuesday that Ray had been "brow beaten and bribed" and deprived of effective counsel all the way down the line.

He said Foreman stood to make money out of a book contract if the case against Ray did not come out in court.

Assistant Atty. Gen. W. Henry Haile argued that Ray had voluntarily pleaded guilty after the court had explained his rights to him.

In a brief filed earlier, Haile said, "It beggars the intellect to consider a claim that a story concluding with a simple and passionless admission of guilt in a drab Memphis courtroom would sell better than one claiming a $400,000 Tennessee jury trial."

The court took Ray's motion under advisement following the arguments.

Acute freight car supply plagues farm producers

WASHINGTON (AP) — "One of the most extended and acute freight car supply problems in this nation's history" is still plaguing farm producers, according to ICC Chairman George M. Stafford.

The shortage of cars ballooned after the U.S.-Soviet grain deal last year, the Interstate Commerce Commission chairman told a House agriculture subcommittee Tuesday at a hearing on fertilizer shortages.

Stafford said in early July 1972 before the sale of grain to Russia and prior to the fall harvest, the average daily shortages were 574 plain boxcars and 168 covered hoppers.

By last March 3 the shortages reached 18,327 plain boxcars and 16,249 covered hoppers, he said.

Most recent figures show that by Sept. 22 there were average daily shortages of 14,457 plain boxcars and 11,451 covered hoppers, Stafford said.

John W. Ingram, federal railroad administrator, said the rail industry has done a good job despite car shortages and problems at ports.

"The industry sharply increased the level of its performance in the first six months of this year, when 819,000 carloads of grain were moved, a 40 per cent increase over the first six months of 1972," he said, adding that 7,004 new covered hopper cars have been delivered as of this August.

Ingram said the most effective solution to potential fertilizer car shortage in the short run is to attempt to smooth the peak demand for rail service usually occurring from February through April.

elections is proof "this isn't going to wipe out the Republican party."

Discussing his eight months on the job at GOP headquarters on Capitol Hill, Bush also said: "There's been a recovery" in the flow of contributions, and the committee will be able to meet its $5.5-million budget, about three times as much as the Democrats, without further staff cuts or borrowing.

The controversy surrounding Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cannot help the GOP but, as for the effect on elections, "I don't think one could possibly measure that at this point," Bush said Agnew's 1976 presidential prospects certainly have not been enhanced, but he added that vindication could change that.

The launching of 1976 presidential soundings by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan, Sen. Charles H. Percy and John Connally is encouraging. "We seem to have a wealth of qualified talent," he said. "I can't help but look at the Democrats and think, in this particular area, we're in pretty good shape compared to them."

In line with an effort to make the national committee "a little more election-oriented," he stepped up party programs to provide assistance to candidates and potential candidates.

These include weekly campaign management schools, and at least three "New Majority Workshops" to stress ways of seeking support from those whose first GOP vote was cast in 1972 for President Nixon.

"These workshops will help demonstrate to party leadership and candidates how to attract so-called New Majority voters, how to attract them to Republicans when you don't have a presidential race on," Bush said.

He said special effort will be made to increase GOP strength among minorities and among ethnic groups.

Bush forecast close races in two gubernatorial elections next month.

In Virginia, Democrat-turned-Republican Mills E. Godwin is locked in a tight race with Lt. Gov. Henry Howell, running as an independent. In New Jersey, Rep. Charles Sandman, who unseated GOP Gov. William Cahill in the primary, is running against Democrat Brendan Byrne.

"I think they're both very important," Bush said. "But I don't see either of them as a test of Watergate."

He said if the GOP lost the governorships, both captured from the Democrats four years ago. "It wouldn't look good at all. We wouldn't like that."

"Of course," he said, "if we won the two. I would hope we would get tremendous acclaim, having pulled off the impossible in a year when others would have thought it would have been impossible to win anything."

In discussing the 1974 elections, Bush avoided any prediction that the GOP could win control of the House or Senate — which would take a net gain of 26 in the House and 7 in the Senate. He talked in terms of avoiding further losses.

"Maybe we're just euphoric," he said, "but we think we have a chance to turn around what is the normal off-year syndrome, namely that the party in power loses seats in the off year."

Bush noted that President Nixon has said he will campaign for Republican candidates in 1974, and the chairman said those who hope to succeed the chief executive should follow the example of Nixon's all-out 1966 stumping for GOP congressional candidates.

"We'd like to see all these candidates out trying to help elect other Republicans in 1974," he said. "It might be a good thing for them to do for their own future, too. It didn't hurt Nixon any."

Two youths being held for murder

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two teen-age youths are being held on $50,000 bond each and charged with the murder Sept. 24 of Virgil H. McGee, a 51-year-old supermarket security officer.

Arthelle McClain, 17, and Cleophus Parker, 19, arrested by Kansas City police earlier in the week, appeared Tuesday before a Jackson County magistrate who set their preliminary hearing for Oct. 25.

The case could advance to the Jackson County Circuit Court before then if a county grand jury, scheduled to receive evidence in the shooting Friday, returns indictments against the two.

A 15-year-old boy arrested Monday in connection with the shooting was turned over to juvenile authorities.

McGee, a reserve Jackson County sheriff's deputy, was shot during a scuffle when he apparently attempted to prevent two young men from robbing the store where he worked.

Mel Kroeze is re-elected head of group

Mel Kroeze was re-elected president of the Sedalia chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International at a recent meeting of members.

Mickey Bennett was elected vice-president, and Jim Cornwall and Louis Harris were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Bill Norwood, president of the Kansas City chapter and an international FGBMFI director, presided at the elections.

This Saturday the Sedalia chapter will hold a men's prayer breakfast at 8 a.m. at the Holiday Inn. The speaker will be John Uhlig, senior electronics technician in the engineering department of the University of Missouri-Columbia, and a Methodist lay minister.

'Walkathon' sponsorship is sought

Students from Smithton High School will be in Sedalia Saturday canvassing downtown businesses for sponsorship of a "walkathon" scheduled for Oct. 27.

Approximately 5 or 6 of the 15 to 25 students participating in the event will be in Sedalia to obtain their minimum of five pledges. The money will go to the American Cancer Society.

The walk will begin at 9 a.m. Oct. 27 at Smithton High School and proceed the eight miles to Centennial Park along old 50 Highway and 16th Street. The walk is expected to take four hours.

Yearbooks received

Fred Davis, right, president of State Fair Community College, looks over a 1973 Exhibitor yearbook with Don Lamm, faculty sponsor of the college annual. The student body of the college dedicated the book to Davis, who was unaware of it until the books arrived Tuesday. According to Lamm, students who live or have parents living within 30 miles of SFCC must pick the books up at the school, while those living more than 30 miles away will receive the annuals in the mail if they notify the school.

Elvis Presley is granted a divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Singer Elvis Presley and his 26-year-old wife Priscilla have ended their marriage with a friendly kiss and a property settlement making her a millionaire.

Presley, 38, was granted his divorce Tuesday in Los Angeles County Superior Court. The couple, married six years, agreed on a modified property settlement involving $1.5 million.

In seeking the divorce, the singer cited irreconcilable differences because of pressure from constant traveling. The hearing was closed to the public.

The Presleys were married in Las Vegas, Nev., in May 1967 after a courtship that began in Germany. She was the daughter of an Army officer and he was the world's best known tank-driving corporal.

Under the settlement, Presley will pay $725,000 in cash outright and another $720,000 at $6,000 a month over a 10-year period.

She also will receive half the proceeds from the intended sale of their Beverly Hills home; five per cent of the outstanding stock in Elvis Presley Music Inc. and White Haven Music.

American Legion Post No. 520 WHEEL CHAIR PROJECT

We, The American Legion of LaMonte, sponsored subscription campaigns with the Capper publication two years ago. Through this work we have obtained folding chairs and other hospital equipment which has been in continuous use in your homes free of charge.

We are now sponsoring a similar drive to obtain folding wheel chairs and hand walkers, which are badly needed. Anyone needing the equipment for temporary time can see Moore's Furniture and Hardware.

No donations will be accepted by either the representatives or the American Legion. This equipment is being paid for through the sale of Capper Publications. New or renewal subscriptions will be appreciated.

A representative will call at your home with a letter from Paul M. Moore, wheel chair committeeman, to explain in detail. Anyone who does not have a letter from Mr. Moore is not authorized to take subscriptions in this campaign.

Anyone in Pettis County is welcome to use this equipment free of charge; it is a county-wide project. Please give the representative a few minutes of your time for a worthwhile cause.

Computerized X-ray method is developed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Georgetown University scientists Tuesday announced development of a new, computerized method of X-raying the human body and said it's expected to provide "unprecedented accuracy" for medical diagnosis.

The developers said the new technique provides X-ray pictures having four times more detail than conventional ones. They said it opens the way to "precisely defining and locating such disorders as tumors, hemorrhages, blood clots, trauma

Brothers enter pleas of guilty

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Prosecutors have asked for 40-year prison terms for two St. Louis brothers who have pleaded guilty to the beating deaths of two children and the shooting and raping of the mothers of the children.

Charles Bonner, 19, and his brother Horace, 25, pleaded guilty to the charges Tuesday in St. Louis Circuit Court. Judge Lackland Bloom acknowledged circuit attorney recommendations for 40-year sentences for each man but did not set a date for sentencing.

(injuries), cysts, strokes, and improperly healed bones" without risk to the patient.

The technique, employing a special "scanning" device, is designed to produce cross-sectional X-ray views of any part of the body and display them automatically on a television screen.

The method was described as offering special powers for diagnosing brain disorders.

The device utilizing the new method is called the "ACTA Scanner" — The "ACTA" meaning "automatic computerized transverse axial." Only a prototype model has so far been built, at a cost of $200,000.

Its developers, headed by Dr. Robert S. Ledley, a professor of physiology and biophysics at Georgetown, explained its operation this way:

A pencil-thin X-ray beam passes through a "slice" or plane of the body and is detected, or "caught," sodium-iodide crystals on the other side.

"Profiles" of the tissue density are received by the detectors as the X-ray beam moves across the object from 180 different angles. Thus, literally thousands of "readings" are made by the detectors within minutes and are fed into a computer.

The latter synthesizes and reproduces a complete cross-section of the part of the body viewed in a computer picture shown on a TV screen.

A color-analyzer unit in the computer translates the grey tones of the picture into color, making it easier to determine specific features, although the color does not correspond to the tissue color itself.

An average "scan" takes 4½ minutes, the researchers said.

Members of the newly-organized Phi Beta Lambda chapter of State Fair Community College recently participated in a state convention in Jefferson City. Attending from the local school were, left to right, Gail Capps, Rosemary Adair, Marilyn Anders, Ellen Ensminger and Christie Deuschle. Also attending but not pictured here was Mrs. Joann Billington, sponsor of the chapter. Miss Adair was named state secretary during the meeting.

Thin blood after coronary?

Dear Dr. Lamb — Nearly every farmer near us is being doctor for heart trouble. The various doctors each have their own method. My husband's doctor is thinning blood with Panwarfin. My husband must have his blood tested every week. The medicine is then adjusted to thin the blood more or to thin it less. It makes it necessary for my husband to be around to have his blood tested every week.

Another man in a nearby city has a doctor who makes fun of Panwarfin. He says one aspirin tablet each morning and another each evening is all that is necessary. He says if a person uses the aspirin his blood does not have to be tested once a week.

My husband would like very much to change to aspirin if that does the work. He would like your opinion about the treatment.

Dear Reader — Panwarfin or Coumadin is commonly used to treat patients during and after their heart attack. I believe the majority of practicing heart specialists do use it, and I think it is well to use medicine to prevent blood clotting in most patients. So, I approve of your husband's treatment. Not everybody can take Coumadin or any other medicines used for this purpose, for example, the person with a history of bleeding ulcers.

The value of using anti-clotting medicines is debatable. You can find well recognized authorities who are for it and others who believe it has no value, or that the problems it causes outweigh any advantages that may be obtained.

This is an opinion, but I do believe that anti-clotting medicines should be used during the acute heart attack and started as soon as possible in the hospital. Then, unless there is a reason not to do so, I would prefer to see patients stay on such medicines at least a year after the attack has occurred. Beyond that period of time I am less concerned about its use.

Aspirin does have some anti-clotting effects. If you take large doses it can cause bleeding from the digestive tract. However, one ordinary sized aspirin tablet in the morning and another in the evening is not enough to greatly decrease the clotting tendency of the blood. It might prevent excessive clotting tendencies in some people. For any medicine to be effective in preventing blood clotting problems it must significantly prolong the clotting time mechanisms, and to tell if it is or is not effective the blood has to be tested. I would guess that your friend's doctor is not very impressed with the value of anti-clotting medicines in general for the treatment of heart attacks.

There are some other advantages to your husband being seen regularly. The doctor can see how well he is sticking to his post heart attack program, and this may encourage your husband to do so — just as the person on a diet is more likely to stick to the program if seen frequently by a doctor.

It sounds to me like your husband has a conscientious, capable doctor. If he wants to get the full advantage of what his doctor can do for him he should stick with the program, needles and all.

Green Book is register of society in Washington

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Actually, she's shy. Parties don't interest her much. And people of position? No, she's not easily impressed.

But Carolyn Hagner Shaw can tell you exactly who rates in capital society—and who doesn't.

For 30 years now, she's kept voluminous files on the fortunes and faux pas of the powerful, honoring the select with an inch or so of space in her annual Social List, a kelly green suede-covered volume appropriately called the Green Book.

And for $22, you, too, can see who counts.

John W. Dean III, who used to counsel the President, led a contingent of former administration biggies who were scratched from the list this year when they became embroiled in the Watergate scandal.

The reason? "Unpleasant notoriety," one criterion for being dropped. Death, divorce, separation and remarriage can be others.

Former presidential counselors H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman are out. So are former White House aides Charles W. Colson, Jeb Magruder, Hugh Sloan and Egil Krogh. Former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst didn't make it either.

Tricia Nixon Cox moved to New York, so she's out. But Julie and David Eisenhower's move to suburban Bethesda, Md., caused only a Green Book address change.

Mieke Tunney is separated from her husband, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., so she's out. But he's in because he's a senator.

Mrs. Shaw says she's not the one to black-list individuals. All final decisions on additions and deletions are left to her "board," but she won't reveal who is on the board.

During an interview in her red brick Georgetown house, Mrs. Shaw, 69, said that in past years, she was threatened with lawsuits by some who weren't included on her list. The crime? "Ruining their social standing." Others tried to bribe her by sending cases of liquor, long stemmed red roses and beautiful, expensive books.

But all were returned, Mrs. Shaw said, "even the flowers," each item accompanied by a form letter that explained "it is not the policy of the Green Book to accept gifts."

Mrs. Shaw said that there are more prominent women listed this year than last. But women present a particular problem: how to list them.

For instance, the Nixons are listed: NIXON, the President of the United States and Mrs. Richard Milhous. (Patricia Ryan.)

But presidential counselor Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is known around the capital by her first name. So she's listed: ARMSTRONG, Counsellor to the President, Anne L. Her husband, Tobin, has his name in tiny black print underneath.

Mrs. Shaw said her new list includes a few Chinese and "a sprinkling of blacks."
